Dorms Celebrate Tonight In Dance Under Full Moon

Larry Floyd's Colleaguen Rambler Will Play At Final Dance Of Dormitory Men

Under full moon, the dormitories will travel to the main hall of the Dormitory Men's Dormitory, Paul Johnson, will take the place of the song on the East side of Walker, in full view of the Dormitory Men. The Dormitory Men's Dormitory is a large, square-shaped building, and there will be a large crowd expected. As chairman for this last affair, the Dormitory Dance Committee has obtained Mrs. Compton, wife of the President of the Institution; Mrs. Jack, wife of Professor Jack; and Mrs. Hamilton, wife of Professor Hamilton. Doors for the dance will be at the opened of the men, which is a regular feature of the Dormitory. The cost of the dance will be $1.40 per couple.

DORCLAN INITIATES 15 NEW MEMBERS

Prof Hamilton Speaks At Annual Activity Banquet Held At Engineer's Club

Dorclan, honorary society of the Dormitory Men, celebrated its annual initiation with a dinner meeting at the Engineers' Club Wednesday night. The election of officers, which are usually held at this meeting, have been postponed until next Monday. At the meeting, Professor Hamilton gave a speech on the value of the work Dormclan could do for the life of the man in the Dormitory and for the good of the Institute. Professor Armstrong of the Economics Department spoke on his trip around the world, accompanying his speech by interesting moving pictures. Two initiates this year had to take the test C.T.A. secretaries, and make reports on the proceedings of their duties at the meeting Wednesday night. Others had to get data on caskets from the National Casket Company. One new member has to give a brief on the Great Court every hour on the hour from 9 in the morning until 10 o'clock in the morning.

CHEMICAL SOCIETY ATTENDS BANQUET

With its twenty-ninth annual banquet held Wednesday evening in the North Hall of Walker Memorial, the M.I.T. Chemical Society brought to a close the 1931-32 season. Introduced by Professor M. S. Harwell of the Physics-Chemistry Department, Dr. Linus Pauling, visiting faculty from the California Institute of Technology, and guest of the evening, spoke on the "Electronic Structure of Molecules." Before closing his lecture with letters with Rand and Standard diagrams.

DO YOU INHALE?

...wonder why cigarette advertising generally avoids this question?

One of the mysteries of cigarette advertising has been the apparent fear of the word "inhale." It is rather foolish—for everybody inhales—whether they realize it or not—every smoker. He realizes in some part of the smoke he or she draws out of a cigarette. This, then, how important it is to be aware of the word "inhale" pure and clear—to be sure that you don't inhale certain impurities.

Do you inhale? Lucky Strike has dared to raise this vital question... because when you smoke Luckies your breath and your lungs get the protection no other cigarette affords. All other methods have been made old-fashioned by Luckies' famous penetrating filter. Luckies created that process. Only Luckies have it.

Do you inhale? Of course you do! So lucky you don't inhale that factor too.

"It's toasted"... the finest cigarette made.
