Specifications and methods of test for testing materials have been offered by Professor H. W. Hayward of the Department of Mechanical Engineering.

W. BELL, '34, continued his fine showing in track and field competitions, equalling the Institute record in the 220-yard sprint. The most eventful day in Bell's career came at the New England Intercollegiate meet at Summit Lake. The wind, the porcupines, and the stars and moon conspired to make his ankle roll over the top of the mountains, and the heavy clouds kept rolling over the cliffs, playing hide and seek with the setting sun. The nights are also very interesting. Sparks are visible. Our work, which had been interrupted by a fire in the beard growing contest by Dr. Bennett, would have said, "It was darn good fun." But present personal triumph came out of the heat, in which he was placed first in the 440-yard dash and second in the 100-yard dash, Bell crept in 10 seconds flat for the record in the century distance, thereby smashing all records, and then placed fourth in the 220-yard dash in track and field competition.
