ENFORCEMENT BY PROXY

While the Institute Committee on one hand is taking action which will permit the Quadrangle Club to help in the enforcement of the Freshman Rules Committee or in its own right, the Chairman of the Committee should state that he feels the committee should continue what it has been doing...nothing.

The spirit of the Class of 1896 is to be the basis on which we can approach when the tie is made or is not made. As was stated in Wednesday's issue, we have not been able to find this spirit in the Freshman Rules Committee. If it does, the Institute Committee will sponsor any reasonable activity. We hope something happens.

In calling attention to the large number of first-year men who are not wearing ties and the factivity of the Freshman Rules Committee not moving, we believe a personal grievance. A deplorable condition has been observed, and by bringing the subject to the Institute Committee, in some degree, our action has been followed by results which promise to remedy existing conditions.

FIVE WEEKS AND A WEEK-END

With the advancing season of the Institute year, there comes the desire on the part of the students to get away from the Institute, which is the occasion for the first of a long series of needless disappearances. Enthusiastic in spirit, the students speak, of course, of the five week grades, which will be mailed Saturday morning to six hundred palpitating hopefuls.

Upon arrival done, it must be observed, in all fairness, that the five weeks means next to nothing at all, as far as your life in the Institute is concerned, dear freshman. These are to let you know how things are going. The flunks are there to make you get the lead out of your feet, the honors to keep you from applying needless steam.

Therefore, when the saddening news, or even the gloom of a parent's voice, or the fear of being brought in by a teacher, it's time to wonder how long a rope it would easily be seen. The worthy professors, and others that the cat is there can't be sure. Some say that the tie-down. Oh yes, we've been reading morning.

And have you heard about Dicky? Dicky M. Brown, '34 Assaults a fresh tie. All through Wednesday's issue of THE TECH, the worth of his Senior dignity getting along.

The very fact that, if the class had won Field Day, the ties would have been discarded had naturally to the conclusion that there is no merit to the Freshman Rules Committee. From now on the only reason that upper classmen want to wear their ties is as a sign of recognition. The freshman should show no greater class spirit than in tying his tie. After all, some ties will be gone, and grey fur away, take a stand on the equal rights of the men, and be prepared to defend their choice. Yours sincerely,

I. D. Hossfeld, '35 A. A. Frank, '35

THE ALL-AMERICAN

BUDGET, 1920

THE TECH's resurrection of an old program pertaining to the dedication of the new offices of the Institute Committee is to be given a more permanent form, with the aim of reaching all the students.

To the Editor of THE TECH:

I, for one, have been in the habit of catching up on the morning after a major personage has spoken. That evening meals in the Cafeteria are often the longed-for second helping of one's day's meal. This is the occasion for the first of a long series of needless disappearances. Enthusiastic in spirit, the students speak, of course, of the five week grades, which will be mailed Saturday morning to six hundred palpitating hopefuls.

We, therefore, believe the students are to let you know how things are going. The flunks are there to make you get the lead out of your feet, the honors to keep you from applying needless steam.

The public thought that on the eve of Wednesday's issue of THE TECH, you say we'll never have enough class spirit to wear our tie in custom. We figure that such is not the case.

South's College, and therefore am ex-

The Quad Club did not refuse to co-operate with the Freshman Rules Committee in the enforcement of the Freshman Regulations. The Club's motion was not acted upon, so how could they possibly refuse? The Quadrangle Club did, on the contrary, several wonderful pieces of work in support of the Freshman Rules Committee, but these were not acted upon, of course.

The truth of the matter is that the Quadrangle Club did not refuse to co-operate with the Freshman Rules Committee in the enforcement of the Freshman Regulations. The Club's motion was not acted upon, so how could they possibly refuse? The Quadrangle Club did, on the contrary, several wonderful pieces of work in support of the Freshman Rules Committee, but these were not acted upon, of course.

That one of the qualifications on which men will be chosen for membership in the Quadrangle Club is that he will not be so dumb as to be chosen for membership if he has not enough class spirit to wear his tie in custom. We feel that such is not the case.

"Quality Food at Today's Price!"

THE TECH is not moved by any idea of personal recognition to purr for the Bursar, and thus produce a homey atmosphere of a chill morning.

In opening its columns to letters addressed to the Editor, THE TECH does not guarantee to print any letter that is not under the name of the writer, unless otherwise stated by the writer.

To the Editor of THE TECH:

We have not been able to find this spirit in the Freshman Rules Committee. If it does, the Institute Committee will sponsor any reasonable activity. We hope something happens.

MORE THE DISCUSSION

In calling attention to the large number of first-year men who are not wearing ties and the factivity of the Freshman Rules Committee not moving, we believe a personal grievance. A deplorable condition has been observed, and by bringing the subject to the Institute Committee, in some degree, our action has been followed by results which promise to remedy existing conditions.

We AREN'T SO DUMB

American college students are said to be a group devoted to interest in public affairs and especially in politics. It may be true, but the quantity of political discussion in the students' daily takes part would indicate otherwise. Of course, to make a statement that two or three men, politics comes up would be false; but the number of cases in which it does be no reason an illusion.

The number of students who listen to the radio addresses of the candidates is fairly large, and it is true that some students will likely persuade others of one point of view or another, when they would not stop to listen to some just band or to a compass, when they did not make a record. When the Institute Committee discussed the radio, after certain hours is lifted so that the men may hear the views of the candidates, the committee agreed that Institute men listen to these speeches, let him listen to the conversations on the morning after a major personage has spoken.

THE TECH's resurrection of an old program pertaining to the dedication of the new offices of the Institute Committee is to be given a more permanent form, with the aim of reaching all the students.

Armed with the results of the lichen they came out with the list of the other day. Art is long on easy be seen kind. The worthy professors, and others that the cat is there can't be sure. Some say that the tie-down. Oh yes, we've been reading morning.

And have you heard about Dicky? Dicky M. Brown, '34 Assaults a fresh tie. All through Wednesday's issue of THE TECH, the worth of his Senior dignity getting along.

The public thought that on the eve of Wednesday's issue of THE TECH, you say we'll never have enough class spirit to wear our tie in custom. We figure that such is not the case.

"Quality Food at Today's Price!"

The Quad Club did not refuse to co-operate with the Freshman Rules Committee in the enforcement of the Freshman Regulations. The Club's motion was not acted upon, so how could they possibly refuse? The Quadrangle Club did, on the contrary, several wonderful pieces of work in support of the Freshman Rules Committee, but these were not acted upon, of course.

That one of the qualifications on which men will be chosen for membership in the Quadrangle Club is that he will not be so dumb as to be chosen for membership if he has not enough class spirit to wear his tie in custom. We feel that such is not the case.

"Quality Food at Today's Price!"

THE TECH is not moved by any idea of personal recognition to purr for the Bursar, and thus produce a homey atmosphere of a chill morning.

In opening its columns to letters addressed to the Editor, THE TECH does not guarantee to print any letter that is not under the name of the writer, unless otherwise stated by the writer.