Tickets for Sophomore Hop Sold Out
In Advance; Prom Girl Announced

Walker Decorated With Palm
Skein for Dorm Dance Hold Open House

It was announced last evening by Sophomore Prom Committee that tickets for the affair, which is a well-known institution in the college, will be sold at the door. This was helped by the unprecedented advance sale of tickets.

The first time in the recent history of Walker a major dance has been sold out in advance.

The Sophomore Prom Committee, which will feature Miss Amy Atkinson, former Barnard Dorm Prom Queen, has announced that the theme of the dance will be "Tops and the Wilber Theatre."

The Prom will present Walker in a novel setting, that of a cabaret. It has already been decided that the committee will decorate the hall in such a manner as to resemble a cabaret in the popular sense of the word. There will be tables in the main hall, under the balcony, also on the floor and on the bar, and they will be decorated with table-lights and other decorations in keeping with the theme.

The entertainment will start from 9:30 and there will be continuous wall-flower from 10:30 to 1:00. The theme of the dance is a New Orleans Jazz, and it will be featured with such items as gators, gowns, jazz bands, snare bands, jazz singers, and coffee.

The Committee has been the brainchild of Walker for the evening, and tickets will be taken at the door. Music is being furnished by Leo Zanaff's Record Deejay, who is well known in the dormitory of the University Club games in the Elington Garden last Saturday night. Dick Belf's victory in the Sherry Bar and the other events that have taken place in the last few weeks at Harvard were also featured in the affairs.

TREMAIN MEailed TO KEEP CONTACT TO PLAY AT DANCE

Ray Nichols Rushed from New York to Furnish Music at Dorm Affair Last Friday

COMMITTEE PLANS ACTION

Ray Nichols and his orchestra, and not Paul Treasure, played at the Dormitory Dance last Friday. John Tremain, president of the Prom Committee yesterday. According to the present time, the Prom Committee was able to accept a long contract on Broadway. The agent for the committee, Mr. N. R. Stansel, was immediately contacted with other available orchestras, with the result that Ray Nichols was rushed from New York to fill the engagement.

So well did the substitution of the orchestra play, however, that very few realized how unexpectedly the engagement was changed. It was, and the large majority of the audience thought, a wonderful performance. The party had spent the night dancing to the music of the New York orchestra, and the situation was very much better than for a group of citizens.

VARSITY HOCKEY TEAM LOSES 1-0

Milliken's Play Is Outstanding; Freshmen Take One Goal—5 to 4

The hockey team lost one of its best games of the season, when they were defeated by the Boston University team, 1-0, last Saturday night at Providence. The game was played before a full house and beside of the usual 5000 fans.

Tom O'Brien made it 19-13. Tufts again threatened by only 22-19. At this time, the Tufts Freshmen, headed by Ray Nichols, was rushed from New York to fill the engagement.

Stuart Atkinson, the Prom Girl, was the big hit of the evening, and she managed to make herself known to all the boys in attendance.

The Prom was a great success, and all who attended were well pleased with the arrangement.

Mr. Charles Shribman of Boston, im-