Miss Isabella Irwin, Head Cashier, Forecasts Cash Shortage at Institute

Made Arrangements for Large Cash Supply Last Saturday

Miss Isabella Irwin, in charge of the cashier's office described by Burn Fred as the person responsible for the strong cash position in which the office found itself at the start of the bank holiday, explained last eve-ing what caused her to keep unusually large amounts of cash on hand during the last part of the week.
According to Miss Irwin the first trouble at the cashier's office came during the early part of last week, following the closing of the Ohio's and Huntingdon Banks on Friday, and closing the cashier's office accommodated all requests for remission of dividends drawn on the closed banks.

TEXTILE RESEARCH

Course Includes Instruction in Testing and Textile Microscopy

An intricate six-week course in research for executives and research directors of textile mills will open at the Institute on March 24. The course, which is specially designed for laboratory men, mill agents, and manufacturers interested in the textile industry, will include a series of workshops, lectures, seminars, and individual conferences with current technical developments of mill work, mainly in warp and weft, will be conducted on Friday and Saturday of each week for a limited group.
The course will be jointly conducted by George B. Haven, professor of advanced technical and theoretical chemistry, and Edward K. Schwartz, assistant professor of textile technology. In a report presented to the students Thursday at 6:15 o'clock, Professor Haven and Professor Schwartz will discuss the practical testing and analysis of textiles by means of me-dianal devices, while Professor Schwartz will present the theory and practise of textile microscopists.

CASHIER'S OFFICE LIMITS PAYMENTS TO CONSERVE CASH

Facility Members Allowed $5.00; Students Limited to $2.00

and Walker Coupons

ACTIVITIES ACCEPT CREDIT

Arrange to Have Redemptions and Tickets Paid for Through Deferred Accounts

Hundreds of students and faculty members are feeding the plate of the postponed concerts, and it is increasingly difficult to cash checks with which to supplement their fast-diminishing funds. The bank, however, since Saturday has been operating on a severely curtailed withdrawal pro-

CAGERS WIN FROM WILDCATS IN LAST Contest OF YEAR

Triumph By 28-29; O'Brien and Sypa Chosen On All Star Quintet

Freshmen Lose Final

Before a crowd of nearly 8,000

Thursday, the Technology basketball team came from behind to defeat a strong University of New Hamp-

FRESHMEN LOSE FINAL

(Continued on page four)