Three Technology Men to Play in Famous 50-Yard Dash at New Haven

Opposing a well balanced team of finished players, the Technology squash team lost its first intercollegiate match of the season on Friday evening by the score of 3 to 0. Every match was hotly contested, for none of them going to the limit of five games.

The feature match of the evening Between Lance of Tech and Goodbody, a freshman, was a keen and close contest, with neither player able to get the better of the other, the score going to the third game. Lance was able to take the first two games, five, six, while Goodbody was able to claim the last three, four, three.

Shaw played his favorite 50-yards dash against Ong to carry the match to five games, but the sophomore was unable to follow up his win, the score going to the third game, six, five.

Trigg played his favorite 50-yards dash against Ong to carry the match to five games, but the sophomore was unable to follow up his win, the score going to the third game, six, five.

Burke defeated Metcalfe twice, in the heats, of which he won fourteen.

It is possible to observe every single one of the players in the game of squash and to see that there is no one who is not trying to win the game, or at least to do his best. The players are all veryambered, and this is the reason why they are able to win so much. It is also possible to see that the players are all very apt to lose their temper, and this is the reason why they are able to lose so much. It is also possible to see that the players are all very apt to lose their temper, and this is the reason why they are able to lose so much.

It is also possible to see that the players are all very apt to lose their temper, and this is the reason why they are able to lose so much.

It is also possible to see that the players are all very apt to lose their temper, and this is the reason why they are able to lose so much.

It is also possible to see that the players are all very apt to lose their temper, and this is the reason why they are able to lose so much.

It is also possible to see that the players are all very apt to lose their temper, and this is the reason why they are able to lose so much.

It is also possible to see that the players are all very apt to lose their temper, and this is the reason why they are able to lose so much.

It is also possible to see that the players are all very apt to lose their temper, and this is the reason why they are able to lose so much.

It is also possible to see that the players are all very apt to lose their temper, and this is the reason why they are able to lose so much.

It is also possible to see that the players are all very apt to lose their temper, and this is the reason why they are able to lose so much.

It is also possible to see that the players are all very apt to lose their temper, and this is the reason why they are able to lose so much.

It is also possible to see that the players are all very apt to lose their temper, and this is the reason why they are able to lose so much.