Students Will Elect Class Officers Tomorrow; Opinion Of Freshman Rules Is Asked

FRESHMAN RULES NOT FAVORED BY MANY COLLEGES

Poll Taken By Brooklyn Paper Shows Waning Interest In Regulations

LEHIGH HAS NO RULES

Voting tomorrow on the question of freshman rules raises a poll taken last year by the "Reporter," weekly paper of Brooklyn Polytechnic Inst., to determine how many colleges still continue freshman control. Of fourteen colleges and universities questioned, ten still had freshman regulations. Only the four others indicated that they had completely abolished the placing of restrictions upon first-year men.

New York University had freshman rules enforced by the Sophomore class whose actions are limited by the Student Council. Theodore A. Butler, director of the Evening College, said that he had very little difficulty since the Senate had assumed charge of all voting."This system is very strict," said Butler.

ELECTION BALLOTS INCLUDE VOTE ON FRESHMAN RULES

Customary Class Rules Will Introduce Candidates To Students

CANDIDATES WILL SPEAK

Annual spring elections of class officers and a showdown on freshman rules will be held tomorrow in the main lobby from 3 to 5 o'clock on the Regent Building from 5 to 6 o'clock.

The advisability of a poll on freshman rules was brought up at Monday's meeting of the Undergraduate Committee by Walter W. Bird, Jr., chairman, who gave the poll as evidence that the undergraduates will be interested in knowing the advisability of continuance of freshman rules.

Following is the question which will be placed on the freshman rules poll:

"1. Do you think freshman rules are better than they were before 1932? If so, would you be willing to lend your support to the enforcement of these rules? 2. Do you favor the freshman To Rule as it now stands? (The rules state that all freshmen should wear regulation ties, four-to-the-hand, with checked and gray stripes when on the Institute grounds from the first day of classes until the end of the rules period.) Since the vote is obtained the consensus of opinion of the under- graduates will be strongly suggested to the action to the Undergraduate Committee, according to Louis W. Pflanz, Jr., chairman of the elections committee.

Candidates of the class of 1935 will be elected a president, vice-president, secretory, treasurer, two members of the Committee of the Undergraduate Council, and one member of the Men's Fraternity Council."
