Apointments and Promotions Fill Faculty Vacancies

(Continued from Page 3)

Professor Miller of M. E. DEPT. DIES DURING SUMMER

(Continued from Page 1)

Professor Miller of M. E. DEPT. DIES DURING SUMMER

Professor Miller of M. E. DEPT. DIES DURING SUMMER

Professor Miller died at his home in Cambridge on April 30, 1933, after a long illness. He was 68 years old.

Professor Miller was born in New York City on April 4, 1865. He graduated from the University of Pennsylvania in 1887 and came to Tech as an instructor in the Department of Architecture in 1894. He was appointed professor of architecture in 1899 and served in that capacity until his death.

Professor Miller's work was widely recognized in the field of architecture. He was a member of the American Institute of Architects and served as its president in 1931. He was also a member of the American Society of Civil Engineers and the American Society for Pure Science.

Professor Miller was a dedicated teacher and a prolific writer. He authored several books on architecture and design, including "The Architecture of the Past" and "The History of Architecture in America." His contributions to the field were widely acknowledged, and he was given several awards for his work.

Professor Miller was a lifelong resident of the Tech community. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Mildred Miller, and two children, John and Jane. A memorial service will be held at the Tech Chapel on May 1st.

In Memoriam

Professor Miller was deeply loved by his students and colleagues. He was a dedicated teacher and a respected scholar. His contributions to the field of architecture will be remembered for many years to come.