Students may have but little feeling on this point but among out there is seemingly a growing tendency to discard partisan: some adjustments to conditions, some changes in our think-capitalist era. of the last presidential election. action and cooperation in recovery, and this feeling is as strong and brought about a demand for greater stability. conception of the government's place in the economic system. strictly individualistic policy will help neither the individual nor while the getting is good. There is a growing realization that least on the American campus. No longer is it get what you car. the percentage of honor students to the highest point in the Insty, sentiment, and temper. Many students have for the first time felt the effect of straightened financial circumstances. The consequence of these causes.

Paradoxically the very tools of production, the machines and international civilizations failed to solve -is everlastingly to the credit of the