Lost by Walker Library

Lost: "100,000,000 Guinea Pigs" by Walker Library.

"100,000,000 Guinea Pigs." If the finder will return the book to the Walker Library it will be appreciated by the librarian.

The library has not traced the author, but it would like its guinea pigs back. And what is the library doing with a hundred million guinea pigs, you ask? The library simply wants to keep them on the record shelf. But the whole mystery becomes clear by reading the note sent to THE TECH from the library. It says: "We feel the person who took the book '100,000,000 Guinea Pigs' by Salter and Dargie should return the same to the library immediately. Please return it immediately."

BOXERS WILL HOLD ELIMINATION BOUTS

As a means of preventing competition and at the same time comparing the skill of the boxers, the淘汰 line-up to face Harvard on Friday night, Boxing Coach Tommy Rowan is planning to hold a series of elimination bouts tonight in the Hangar Gym. This may mean that the line-up posted last week will undergo a change, with the boxers involved in the Hangar Gym. TECHNOLOGY MEN TO PLAY SANTA

Will Assist Boston Post Drive in Wrapping Packages

Technology students have been invited by the Boston Post to assist Santa Claus in the wrapping of packages for the poor. "Tech Day" will be celebrated next Sunday at two thirty o'clock at the Post Santa Claus Headquarters, 119 Federal Street, Boston.

Each year the Post collects funds and gifts, and asks the aid of various Boston student groups in assembling and wrapping these. Last year a large delegation of girls from several of the women's college associations, and on Monday the Boston Hockey team did their part. Many student organizations have also visited the workshop.
