THE HARD WORKING ATHLETE

THERE has been a great deal of discussion in recent years over the inclusion of professional athletes in the ranks of the student body. Many persons of athletic ability and some of those engaged in the sports field generally feel that there is a place for them in the university, but others are against the idea on the ground that it is unfair to the regular students and that it is not good for the athletic teams themselves.

We feel that the proper attitude is that of allowing those who are interested in athletics to participate in any way they choose, whether it be through the regular teams or through the non-competitive clubs. This is not to say that there should be no limits, for there must be some control, but the idea should be that of equality and fairness to all.

In conclusion, we believe that the university should be open to all students, regardless of their athletic ability, and that they should have the opportunity to participate in the sports they enjoy. This will not only benefit those who are interested in athletics, but will also benefit the rest of the student body by promoting a greater sense of community and fair play.

HUMAN MISFITS

ONE of the measures pronounced by the Nazi Government, and perhaps the worst, is the persecution of the Jews. This has been going on for some time now and the result is that many Jews are being arrested and sent to concentration camps.

This is a direct violation of the laws of humanity, and we condemn this act of ruthless aggression. We believe that all nations should work together to end this tragedy and bring about a world where all people are treated equally.

THE CONCLUSION

In summary, we believe that the university should be open to all students, regardless of their athletic ability, and that they should have the opportunity to participate in the sports they enjoy. This will not only benefit those who are interested in athletics, but will also benefit the rest of the student body by promoting a greater sense of community and fair play.

STRONG SILENT MEN

ALTHOUGH we have no desire to set our- ers, we cannot refrain from protest- ing against the widespread belief that men who do not talk are weak or inferior. We believe that there are many men who are capable of expressing their feelings and ideas, but who choose not to do so.

We believe that the true measure of a man is the quality of his thoughts and the depth of his understanding. This is not determined by how much he talks, but by how well he listens. We believe that the world is better off when men are willing to listen to one another and to learn from each other.

In conclusion, we believe that there is no need for anyone to speak in order to be heard or to be taken seriously. We believe that all men are equal, regardless of how much they talk, and that their value should be judged by the content of their thoughts, not by the volume of their words.
