INSTITUTE BOASTS OF "LEAGUE OF NATIONS" ATTENDING CLASSES

Ten Men from Asia, Five from Europe and Many Others Compromise the Cosmopolitans

Europe, Asia, South America, and Africa, as well as many other foreign countries are well represented in the "League of Nations" of which the present freshman class consists.

From the Eastern countries, Asia accounts for ten new men, five of which come from China, two from Iraq, and one each from Havana, Cuba, Porto Rico, British West Indies, and Mexico. Here in the United States, many of the cities and towns from which some of the freshmen come have quite interesting and amazing names. One student hails from Romeo, Michigan, while another arrives from Iron Mountains, in the same state. The early Indian influence is manifested in the names of many of the towns, a few of which follow: Wauwatosa, and Kenosha, in Wisconsin; Keokuk, Iowa; Steam- bean, and Box Butte, Montana.

STATEMENT OF OWNERSHIP

Statement of the ownership, management, circulation, etc., required by the Act of Congress of August 24, 1912, embodied in section 411, Postage Laws and Regulations, printed on the face of this statement, is given; also that the said two paragraphs next above giving the names of the owners, stockholders, and security holders, if any, contain not only the list of such stockholders and security holders as they appear upon the books of the company as trustees hold stock and other securities than as so stated by him.

WHEN YOU'RE TIRED,
GET A LIFT WITH A CAMEL!

YOU'LL ENJOY this thrilling response in your flow of energy!

"Even the greatest writers are supposed to find writing a hard task, and if you ever have to do any writing you know just how hard a time the rest of us, who don't aspire to genius, have in expanding ourselves," says Douglas J. Jones, 36.

"Majoring in English, I put as much energy into writing as a man would use up in heavy physical labor. When I feel played out I smoke a Camel. Camels give me a real snapback in energy. They are so mild that I can smoke all I want without upsetting my nerves."

You, too, will like Camel, a blend of the milder tobaccos. Mild— but never flat or "sweetish"— never tiresome in taste. You'll feel like smoking more, and you need not hesitate about it! Prove Camel for yourself, and feel refreshed and mentally alert again.
