The death of Dr. Allan Winter Rowe, the Massachusetts Institute of Technology's most beloved and helpful alumnus, has been mourned and praised by many.

Dr. Rowe was a member of the Institute's corporation since his appointment as president of the alumni association in 1933. His interests have centered chiefly in student athletics and welfare and in the departments of biology and public health.

All who have known Dr. Rowe intimately, or worked with, have come to respect and love him because of his sincerity, unfailing honesty, and unselfishness and generosity in his work for those organizations or activities to which he has devoted his entire time and energy.

Our feeling of loss is intensified by the suddenness of his passing. In the very heart of Harvard Yard he will be the most important of his life.—President Karl T. Compton.

Allan Winter Rowe—polished gentleman, accomplished scholar in a difficult field of research, champion of clean amateur athletics and in his devotion to the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. His kindness gave color to every Institute gathering, his helpfulness to a standardized world lent courage to all who recognized the need for values and for that ever-shifting independant independence of thought.

He was a member of the Institute undergraduate society, will never have a more energetic and able supporter of all that was good and just in the course of his life. They have many friends, but Allan Winter Rowe will not be replaced.—Dr. Yannov Bush.

THE ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

Statement

The passing of Dr. Allan Winter Rowe, '01, will be keenly felt, because of his sincerity, unflinching honesty, and an idealism which prevails throughout our ranks, illustrated in the lines inscribed above the gate which once stood at the entrance to Technology's athletic field.

Not the nautz but the rave, not the heat, but the play.

Makes me, Lord, enjoy always!—Dr. Rowe, as he was born on July 31, 1879, as also by a host of those who had fondly called him a brilliant scientist, a delightful companion, and a true friend.—Dean Samuel C. Prescott.

TECHNIQUE CONCLUDES DRIVE TODAY AT FOUR

Today is the last opportunity for Technique sign-ups, the drive ending today at four o'clock. There are three events still to be filled—Swimming, the fall eleven, and the rowing crew—for which enrollees are needed. The ten, the football, the men's tennis, and the hockey have been filled.

-By precept and example he inculcated the principles of conduct which today are accepted and are the sound basis of our men's lives.—Coach Oscar Hedlund.

HOME FOR THE CHRISTMAS HOLIDAY?

Will handle your baggage quickly and economically!

Don't spoil the thrill of getting home again by worrying about the shipment of your baggage. Solve the problem by leaving everything to Railway Express. We will call for your trunks, baggage and personal belongings and send them in a fast service car. Only $1.50, railroad rate.

You can take your train home with peace of mind—knowing that your baggage is carefully handled by Railway Express service car express company. We give a receipt on pickup and take a receipt on delivery... double proof of service. Your baggage cannot be lost under our care. Present your present to your family and friends by Railway Express. For service or information merely call or telephone.

The Crimson

MUSICAL CLUBS FEATURE VAUDEVILLE ENTERTAINMENT

The Tech join in Page Four

Back to Tech

The picture above is the last picture known to be taken of Dr. Allan Winter Rowe, '01, who died yesterday. It was taken at the Field Day exercises October 30, 1930, while Dr. Rowe was speaking at the dedication of the new Barbour Field House.

FRATERNITY FRIDAY FOUND DEAD TUESDAY

The Department Monday evening, a story which refutes other statements of the death. No reason has been advanced for the suicide, and Dean Emerson said, "In addition to being one of the students of high rank in the Architectural Department (his rating is over 4.00), he was liked and respected by his classmates as well as students."

As a token of this esteem, thirty members of Wake's class have paid a bout of roses to the funeral.