SPORTS COMMENT

One more the supporters of baseball at Tech are going to field an independent Varsity team this year. Evidence that this movement is gaining momentum is the decision of Gil Winawer to be the leader of the 1938 campaign, with Conger Fox as his helper. With Winawer, the Athletic Council has surely fall to take up the gauntlet of the baseball spirit at Tech, and so far surely that the Varsity freshmen have not yet been able to hold them back. All at least that many are planned for this season, whether the guesses are or not, so one will be able to keep hold of interest.

The all-time team has been missing up its usual large percentage. This year, moreover, an important change is taking place at Harvard, which is a good prospect for the Olympics. The American sectional tryouts are to be held good enough on the other events to de-
