G—MEN
AND GOVERNMENT APPROPRIATIONS

The present month has been a successful one during which about one dozen agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, on May 1, Alvin Karpis, head of the last remaining Karpis gang, was captured in New York by a group of Federal agents headed personally by Mr. Hoover. Since then those who were members of the Karpis gang have been caught, so that the menace of organized crime is now being completely wiped out.

Quintly, relentlessly, the war against crime is being waged by a small body of Federal governmental officials, especially known as G-Men. The efficient way in which the Federal agents are cleaning up such public menaces as Machine Gun Kelly, Baby Face Nelson, and John Dillinger is accomplishing more than any other factor to correct the allusions of the devastating lines of the American youth who greedily absorb our movies, pulp magazines, and tabloids which glorify crime and the gangster.

Few departments of the government can compete with the record of efficiency achieved by the Internal Revenue Department's Bureau of Investigation. A record of ninety-four percent of all returns being expended on public works of doubtful wasteful extravagance can be laid at its door.

Men. The efficient way in which the Federal agents are cleaning up such public menaces as Machine Gun Kelly, Baby Face Nelson, and John Dillinger is accomplishing more than any other factor to correct the allusions of the devastating lines of the American youth who greedily absorb our movies, pulp magazines, and tabloids which glorify crime and the gangster.

Few departments of the government can compete with the record of efficiency achieved by the Internal Revenue Department's Bureau of Investigation. A record of ninety-four percent of all returns being expended on public works of doubtful wasteful extravagance can be laid at its door.

Yet even the movies are not serious enough to be destroyed because it has been proven by the war against crime that the movies have not been published as yet so that the charge is probably attributable to a lack of moral knowledge. For if any moral knowledge is concerned, it is common knowledge that there is at least as much juvenile seduction to be prevented as that demanded by many students.

The efficient way in which the Federal agents are cleaning up such public menaces as Machine Gun Kelly, Baby Face Nelson, and John Dillinger is accomplishing more than any other factor to correct the allusions of the devastating lines of the American youth who greedily absorb our movies, pulp magazines, and tabloids which glorify crime and the gangster.

Yet even the movies are not serious enough to be destroyed because it has been proven by the war against crime that the movies have not been published as yet so that the charge is probably attributable to a lack of moral knowledge. For if any moral knowledge is concerned, it is common knowledge that there is at least as much juvenile seduction to be prevented as that demanded by many students.

The efficient way in which the Federal agents are cleaning up such public menaces as Machine Gun Kelly, Baby Face Nelson, and John Dillinger is accomplishing more than any other factor to correct the allusions of the devastating lines of the American youth who greedily absorb our movies, pulp magazines, and tabloids which glorify crime and the gangster.

Yet even the movies are not serious enough to be destroyed because it has been proven by the war against crime that the movies have not been published as yet so that the charge is probably attributable to a lack of moral knowledge. For if any moral knowledge is concerned, it is common knowledge that there is at least as much juvenile seduction to be prevented as that demanded by many students.

The efficient way in which the Federal agents are cleaning up such public menaces as Machine Gun Kelly, Baby Face Nelson, and John Dillinger is accomplishing more than any other factor to correct the allusions of the devastating lines of the American youth who greedily absorb our movies, pulp magazines, and tabloids which glorify crime and the gangster.

Yet even the movies are not serious enough to be destroyed because it has been proven by the war against crime that the movies have not been published as yet so that the charge is probably attributable to a lack of moral knowledge. For if any moral knowledge is concerned, it is common knowledge that there is at least as much juvenile seduction to be prevented as that demanded by many students.

The efficient way in which the Federal agents are cleaning up such public menaces as Machine Gun Kelly, Baby Face Nelson, and John Dillinger is accomplishing more than any other factor to correct the allusions of the devastating lines of the American youth who greedily absorb our movies, pulp magazines, and tabloids which glorify crime and the gangster.

Yet even the movies are not serious enough to be destroyed because it has been proven by the war against crime that the movies have not been published as yet so that the charge is probably attributable to a lack of moral knowledge. For if any moral knowledge is concerned, it is common knowledge that there is at least as much juvenile seduction to be prevented as that demanded by many students.

The efficient way in which the Federal agents are cleaning up such public menaces as Machine Gun Kelly, Baby Face Nelson, and John Dillinger is accomplishing more than any other factor to correct the allusions of the devastating lines of the American youth who greedily absorb our movies, pulp magazines, and tabloids which glorify crime and the gangster.

Yet even the movies are not serious enough to be destroyed because it has been proven by the war against crime that the movies have not been published as yet so that the charge is probably attributable to a lack of moral knowledge. For if any moral knowledge is concerned, it is common knowledge that there is at least as much juvenile seduction to be prevented as that demanded by many students.