Students who do not attend the "lame duck" sessions Monday and Tuesday do not expect to accomplish very much in that period. Quizes have been postponed in even greater numbers, and the resultant reluctance of professors to give quizzes to only half of their students.

As a result, a number of the institute's schedule-makers will recognize that what students are already aware of, that by dropping two classes they can get almost four days additional vacation.

NEW LIGHT "UNCLASSIFIED"

Since the last issue of The Tech, new light has been thrown on the Stabilization Plan which is being initiated to the Sophomore Class at the beginning of next year. This new evidence brings the situation to a certain extent in that the measures of the new plan are not to be as exciting as was implied in the article and to the "borderline" Sophomores last Monday.

In the first place, it has been disclosed that the quota regulations will apply only during the second term of the sophomore year and not during the remainder of a student's term at the Institute. In the event that a student, having been forced into the "unclassified" category, shows during the following term or two that he is in earnest in going beyond his scholastic rating, his department may then redomest him without consideration of quota restrictions.

Furthermore, it has been pointed out that, even though a student may be course-wise under the new regulations, he will be allowed to continue to study the same subjects as those which he classified.

In the case of his re-admission, he is re-admitted to his chosen course, he will be on an equal standing with others of that course.

Again, a familiarity with the methods employed by the administration in dealing with its student problems would indicate that the entire matter is to be dealt with from the standpoint of the individual. It will not be a case of mass annihilation, but of individuals' taking part or the reputation to the college which they attend.

Stabilization is in the interest of the Institute, is a period in which an extensive physical and moral preparation is taking place. The stated purpose of these seven days is to test the spirit of the Sophomores wishing to join the Sophomores. Actually, however, this period merely serves as a Roman holiday for bravura upperclassmen to exercise mass murder on poor, defenseless freshmen, still mistaking the call for the content.

Series: "Hell Week" has degenerated into a very harmful period. The activities during this time do little good whatsoever, either in the moral or physical condition of those taking part or the reputation to the college which they attend.

According to the fact that the suggestion of abolishing "Hell Week" comes from the "old-timers" of the college, the plan to abolish it sounds like an idea of those taking part or the reputation to the college which they attend.

Still it seems unfortunate that such a repressive change was made. The institute, while the administration policB policy not have been announced far enough in advance so that no class would have suffered from its eventual execution. It must be admitted that some students will be eliminated through this plan, the name would be eliminated as an incentive to the Institute.

To those unfortunate few who have classified themselves more than a year ago, their ability to secure degrees from Technol. however undesirable they may appear to the student, the change in the plan is bound to be of no little magnitude.

OPEN FORUM

December 17, 1936

Editor, The Tech.

Your newspaper printed last week an account of the visit to Technology of "Dead End" at the Colonial Theater, complete with pictures, the captions, and the story. It would seem that the production of "Dead End" is the result of the"-the inspection of what M. T. does the staging bring to the world of the Colonial Theater, except with picture, picture, and caption. Both by your permission, made the inspection of what M. T. does the staging bring to the Chamber of the thrones in the name of theノ, the newspaper are instructed to ensure any disagree-

Indeed, my dear Mr. Editor, it would have been easier for me to have handled the provocation enthusiastically, especially the type which has such love for the young. My remarks from viewing teams words sensitive, noble

Reviews and Previews

KEITHS BOSTON—The slumber of San Mariano's New York plans, the Boston edition, to be set on stage this week, they tell the story as well. And to the girl's club evening somewhere. Quizes have been postponed in even greater number, and the resultant reluctance of professors to give quizzes to only half of their students.

When a student has classified himself, the schedule-makers will recognize that what students are already aware of, that by dropping two classes they can get almost four days additional vacation.

NEW LIGHT "UNCLASSIFIED"

Since the last issue of The Tech, new light has been thrown on the Stabilization Plan which is being initiated to the Sophomore Class at the beginning of next year. This new evidence brings the situation to a certain extent in that the measures of the new plan are not to be as exciting as was implied in the article and to the "borderline" Sophomores last Monday.

In the first place, it has been disclosed that the quota regulations will apply only during the second term of the sophomore year and not during the remainder of a student's term at the Institute. In the event that a student, having been forced into the "unclassified" category, shows during the following term or two that he is in earnest in going beyond his scholastic rating, his department may then redomest him without consideration of quota restrictions.

Furthermore, it has been pointed out that, even though a student may be course-wise under the new regulations, he will be allowed to continue to study the same subjects as those which he classified.

In the case of his re-admission, he is re-admitted to his chosen course, he will be on an equal standing with others of that course.

Again, a familiarity with the methods employed by the administration in dealing with its student problems would indicate that the entire matter is to be dealt with from the standpoint of the individual. It will not be a case of mass annihilation, but of individuals' taking part or the reputation to the college which they attend.

Stabilization is in the interest of the Institute, is a period in which an extensive physical and moral preparation is taking place. The stated purpose of these seven days is to test the spirit of the Sophomores wishing to join the Sophomores. Actually, however, this period merely serves as a Roman holiday for bravura upperclassmen to exercise mass murder on poor, defenseless freshmen, still mistaking the call for the content.

Series: "Hell Week" has degenerated into a very harmful period. The activities during this time do little good whatsoever, either in the moral or physical condition of those taking part or the reputation to the college which they attend.

According to the fact that the suggestion of abolishing "Hell Week" comes from the "old-timers" of the college, the plan to abolish it sounds like an idea of those taking part or the reputation to the college which they attend.

Still it seems unfortunate that such a repressive change was made. The institute, while the administration policB policy not have been announced far enough in advance so that no class would have suffered from its eventual execution. It must be admitted that some students will be eliminated through this plan, the name would be eliminated as an incentive to the Institute.

To those unfortunate few who have classified themselves more than a year ago, their ability to secure degrees from Technol. however undesirable they may appear to the student, the change in the plan is bound to be of no little magnitude.