Technology Students To Represent Italy
WILL IMPERSONATE DELEGATION TO LEAGUE OF NATIONS

Students interested in representing Technology to the Model League of Nations met to be held March 16 and 17 at Harvard and Radcliffe, must reach a voting at 3 p.m. in room 2-110 to discuss their impersonation of the Italian delegation to the League.

Paul A. Vagel, '37, working with Professor Smith of the English Department on arrangements for Tech's participation, stated that the meeting was held to determine exactly who should represent Italy. It was indicated that if the interest was great enough, Technology might represent more than one nation.

Professor Smith, who is an authority on the League of Nations, is planning to give a series of lectures to universities who will be invited to instruct them in the history and procedures of the League.

Indian Student

You emphasize social life even in your religion. I expected to see the religious side emphasized in the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. but in my home, a dance was given in my house when I visited home.

In speaking of the political side of the university life Mr. Sin said that the American students are almost all self-centered and that they are not interested in the world east of New York or west of Hollywood. "Because of social political security, the American student does not care for the rest of the world," he continued. Mr. Sin then closed by saying that the democracy in the government of our country is envied. Mr. Sin has been the guest of many universities and twenty prominent travels through the United States. After visiting a few more universities he is going to Europe and from there he will sail to England to represent India in a conference of the British Student Federation.
