SPORTS COMMENT

Eastern sports are conservative. Especially so in New England. Out there, where the crowds are less remembering the star-studded performance in every competitive sport. An outstanding example of this week in the form of basketball. Although the rules are supposed to be unfamiliar in scope there are several different interpretations of them to be found throughout the country. Out West, (this other side of the Muddy Water) the line-up will be as follows: for.

The freshmen too, competed in similar events. Of the eight men who made the varsity team, Hadley High Scorer

Varsity Team Exhibits Punch in Hard-Fought Match

Exhibiting a punch that pulled matches out of the first consistently, the Trinity squash team defeated Vermont Saturday afternoon.

Nearby every match was hotly contested, most of them ending with such scores as 14-13, 15-14, and 18-16. The team was badly in need of practice, in its earlier matches, but seems to have found its feet, and with the enthusiasm shown at the last match promises well for the rest of this year.

Coach Simmons, who had gone to Connecticut to compete for the title in the seventh annual professional squash-rackets tournament was eliminated last week in the second round.
