Hedlund Will Choose 3 Relay Teams
Frosh And Varsity Trials For K Of C Meet Under Way

Varsity Entries Not Definite; Frosh Entries Are Under Fire

Three Relay Teams To Be Picked

Trials are now under way, under the watchful eye of Coach Oscar Hedlund, to determine the relay teams which will be sent to the Intercollegiate Relays at the Clark Institute in Massachusetts. This event was being prepared for by the Relays Committee and the Engineering Council. The team is expected to leave the University on February 15 when they meet Clark Institute at 6 p.m., in the Boston Garden.

At present there has been no definite decision made as to the varsity entries although it is known that George C. Clark, '37, Ernest Bruss, '37, and Henry Wirth, '37, will be entered in the high jump category. Also, John V. Morison, '36, and Paul Schneider, '39, will represent the Varsity in the hurdles category. The Frosh, on the other hand, are to have only one relay team of which the best men in the Engineering class will be selected. The frosh team will be selected and announced later this week.

Frosh entries, George Clark, Ernest Bruss, and Henry Wirth, will be entered in the high jump events. The Frosh, on the other hand, are to have only one relay team of which the best men in the Engineering class will be selected. The Frosh entries will be announced later this week.

February matches will be held against the frosh team. The Frosh will have two teams, one for the Frosh and one for the Frosh relay team. The Frosh will have two teams, one for the Frosh and one for the Frosh relay team.

The Frosh team will be entered in the high jump events. The Frosh entries will be announced later this week.

Entries Not Definite

In Hurdles

Matches

As Seven Yearlings Report To Owen

In last year's games, the varsity was blanked by the Harvard team. The Harvard team was the worst team to have been defeated by the Varsity. The Harvard team was the worst team to have been defeated by the Varsity. The Harvard team was the worst team to have been defeated by the Varsity.

In spite of the coming events, the tech swimming team was practicing regularly in the hope that it will be able to make up for some of the defeats earlier in the season. The meet is a month away and it is expected that the team will be in better shape than it has been.

A great deal of the team's weak points may be attributed to Illini and the squad. On the recent trip to New York, the team was one of the strongest in the country. Three other teams were the entire distance team, Charles Small, '38, swimming in the 440 yard freestyle; Frank Gardner, '38, swimming in the 220, and Harold Chestnut, '38, swimming in both of these events. Their prospects are quite bright for having Captain Glenn Dodge, '37, in their lead-up.

Unsolicited at the beginning of the season, and slow to warm up to their winning spirit, the Frosh have picked up splendidly.

Unsolicited at the beginning of the season, and slow to warm up to their winning spirit, the Frosh have picked up splendidly.

 Reviewed and Approved

The First Church of Christ, Scientist

The THE TECH

Swim Team Practices For Coming Contests

Men Are Weak in Distance; Divers, Hurdlers Outstanding

In spite of the coming events, the tech swimming team was practicing regularly in the hope that it will be able to make up for some of the defeats earlier in the season. The meet is a month away and it is expected that the team will be in better shape than it has been.

A great deal of the team's weak points may be attributed to Illini and the squad. On the recent trip to New York, the team was one of the strongest in the country. Three other teams were the entire distance team, Charles Small, '38, swimming in the 440 yard freestyle; Frank Gardner, '38, swimming in the 220, and Harold Chestnut, '38, swimming in both of these events. Their prospects are quite bright for having Captain Glenn Dodge, '37, in their lead-up.

Unsolicited at the beginning of the season, and slow to warm up to their winning spirit, the Frosh have picked up splendidly.

Unsolicited at the beginning of the season, and slow to warm up to their winning spirit, the Frosh have picked up splendidly.

Reviewed and Approved