"Captain Nemo" To Officiate At Freshman Dance

Identity Of New Toomastor Unearthed By Freshmen

Leon Mayers And Orchestra To Play At Dance In Walker

Funeral Services For Freshman Ties Scheduled For Midnight

Capitan Nemo will be the mystery master of ceremonies at the much looked forward to Freshman Dance tonight in place of Professor Bill Green who declined himself unable to come.

The dance will be held tonight from 7 until 11 in Walker. Music will be furnished by Leon Mayers' orchestra which has previously been well received at other Walker dances. Tickets at $1.25 a couple are on sale all day in the Key Store, and may also be had at the door.

Freshmen have apparently accepted the position of master of ceremonies very readily, and by giving him the two tickets he has been told by them to change his name because of the necessity of "catching up on backs." This is a good thing.

The Dance

The Dance, which will take place at Colonial Room, will be an informal affair.

(Continued on Page 2)

Freshman Dance

Nautical Association Will Present Movies Of Coast Guard Work

Scenes Will Include Rescues, Morro Castle Disaster, Schuyler Project

"The Work of the Coast Guard," a motion picture, will be presented by the Nautical Association tonight at 8:00 P.M. in the basement of the Main Building, in a series of "Nautical Afternoons." Students interested in maritime activities are cordially invited to attend.

The picture corrects the mistaken notion that the United States coast guard is to chase the runaways across the ocean. It shows the various duties of the officers and men of the various offices duties of the coast guard.

Among the scenes shown will be bad weather, rescuing at sea, the training of future Coast Guard Officers at the New London academy, the work of the North Atlantic ice and press ice patrols, life aboard the Coast Guard training ship, and the importance of the shore stations in connection with the main ship.

Some of the most interesting shots showing the ship the S.S. Morro Castle, which sank off the coast of California, are shown. It shows the coast guard's efforts in their search.

No Tech Tuesday

There will be no issue The Tech on Tuesday, the next issue appearing on Friday, February 26, as usual.

Phosphorous Celebrates New Issue At "Informal Tea" Over Can Of Oster

The Voo Doo Staff, that smart and colorful weekly publication, has just appeared. It seems (the only ones they'd do enter such a thing) has set aside this evening 7:00 to 11:00 to celebrate their February number which, according to the editor, is "among the young crowd, the most significant ever" and "the most fascinating star, presiding at the table this month." It is not likely to be the last time, and the table was a success and the tea was probably the best thing to happen.

The "Informal Tea" Over Can of Oster was a signal success, judging from the fact that the members of the Voo Doo staff were already back to the dormitory in the middle of the night. The interminability of the evening will be evidenced by the fact that the members still have tea, and the coffee will be served at 10:30.

The Voo Doo Staff is an interesting club and may be obtained from the members themselves at a price of fifteen cents per couple.

DKE Pledge Jailed For Panties Off From Howard Cutie

Fin Epidemic Causes Utah To Ban Nude Dancing

Go-foods at the University of Utah have declared a "kissing strike," in an attempt to end an influenza epidemic there. In reported, the two students have called a dating strike to bring the fad out of style. The affair thus far is developing into a hard-fought battle of the sexes.

The strike was called after a popular blonde who had pressed her lips to a glass in a Carson street put it under the microscope. After one look at the thousands of germs, Frinking about the slide, she declared herself unable to come. One young lady, however, is reported to have said to the f. "Kissing wouldn't be so dangerous if you had the right technique."

Debating Teams Battle Tonight

Two Teams Meet Out Of Town Foes, Columbia And Lafayet-le, In Debate

In two, 9:00-11:00-1:30am, Thursday night the Debating Society will meet Columbia University and Lafayette College. Both teams, each of which has previously been well received, will take the affirmative of the same question: "Resolved, that all electric utilities should be governmentally owned and operated." The team which will make the affirmative of the topic in a debate against Albert B. M. at 9:30.

Host To Columbia

In the afternoon of the even- ing, the Institute will be host to Columbia University. The visitors are received yesterday. "Resolved, that the several states should adopt an legislative Union," the affirmative of the topic, is to be debated with Andrew Stergion, Robert Roberts, 38, and Samuel Scherff, 38, of Technology, and uptown the negative.

The debate sign-ups may be exchanged for tickets at the same time. The debate will take the affirmative of the topic in a debate against Albert B. M. at 9:30.

N.Y.A. At Tech Sends Three To Washington

Rooselvelt To Address Student Youth And Arts Conference

Three Technology students will be among the 2,000 young people from all parts of the country who will attend the annual Roosevelt Youth Conference in Washington this week-end to sign up for the American Youth..." The "Pilgrimage," sponsored by the American Youth Congress, claims a membership of 910,000 and includes 21 delegations from various groups, trade unions and student organ- izations.

The men, Richard Hanau, '39, Kenneth Beach, '40 and Max Shulman, '40, graduates, were elected at a meeting of Technology N.Y.A. students held last Monday by the American Youth Conference.

To Go Free

"Kiki" Roberts Allows Treasure Hunter To Go Free

Intrusion Ceremony Requires Undertakings; Police Bid In

Henry Brewer Arrested Leaving Stage Door After He Leaves 50c Pay

A Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity man who brought pledge Henry Brewer, Jr., 40, to grief last night by causing his arrest for violating women's unwritten rules from the Old Howard Barthesque theatre. Brewer was taken to the University police stations and held on charges of breaking and entering in license. He was later released when "Kiki" Roberts, owner of the playhouse, said that the wedding of the pledger was stolen, refused to charge any money. Apparently, the pledge was engaged in "a treasure hunt" as part of his initiation, and was compelled to select the star's underneath from the Old Howard. He entered by the stage door, facing the dressing room, collected the clothing, having been made to stand by about to leave when he encountered the police.

Pareedon Frank Kahler appro- priate police and brought to the courthouse. bail hearing was set at the stage where the man was confessed to the police.

In connection with the exhibit in Building I featuring the Fifth An- nual Thorne-Loomis Tour of Europe, moving pictures of a previous visit to that country have been shown on Wednesday, February 5th at 5 P.M., in Thorne-Loomis Hall. This is an exhibit sponsored by the Department of Business and Commerce, and is open free to students of the Institute.

The exhibit opposite Room 1-181 includes a series of slides by members of last year's group of a map of the itinerary planned for this sum- mer. This proposes a route through the Rhine and World War battlefields of Germany and France, Paris, The Seine, and the Loire, from the Alps, Munich, Nuremberg, Cologne, Berlin, Copenhagen, Stockholm, Oslo, and Bergen, a five-day trip through continental and British stations, and the itinerary planned for this sum- mer. This proposes a route through the Rhine and World War battlefields of Germany and France, Paris, The Seine, and the Loire, from the Alps, Munich, Nuremberg, Cologne, Berlin, Copenhagen, Stockholm, Oslo, and Bergen, a five-day trip through continental and British stations.

Among the scenes shown will be interesting, the village of Geneva, the Swiss tower. The pictures include an interesting picture of travel with the Tech men who are on their way to the University. Accompanied by the Department of Business and Commerce, and is open free to students of the Institute.

Although none of the twelve places that Tech men have been is still an argument for reser- vation of the place assigned to them, probably a few. The exhibition, which is in color, is an interesting picture of travel with the Tech men who are on their way to the University. Accompanied by the Department of Business and Commerce, and is open free to students of the Institute.

Chemical Supply Room In Building 4 Robbed; Loot Valued At $2500

Platinum Cubes Stolen By Thieves Early Yesterday

Thief of $500 worth of platinum from the Division of Laboratory Stip- ends building yesterday, the Cambridge police said. The group of men was said to be a"treasure hunt" as part of his initiation, and was compelled to select the star's underneath from the Old Howard. He entered by the stage door, facing the dressing room, collected the clothing, having been made to stand by about to leave when he encountered the police.

In connection with the exhibit in Building I featuring the Fifth An- nual Thorne-Loomis Tour of Europe, moving pictures of a previous visit to that country have been shown on Wednesday, February 5th at 5 P.M., in Thorne-Loomis Hall. This is an exhibit sponsored by the Department of Business and Commerce, and is open free to students of the Institute.

The exhibit opposite Room 1-181 includes a series of slides by members of last year's group of a map of the itinerary planned for this sum- mer. This proposes a route through the Rhine and World War battlefields of Germany and France, Paris, The Seine, and the Loire, from the Alps, Munich, Nuremberg, Cologne, Berlin, Copenhagen, Stockholm, Oslo, and Bergen, a five-day trip through continental and British stations.