Supplies for Spain.

A campaign to raise money to buy medical supplies for Spain. The committee has met with a reluctance to contribute on the part of many persons, apparently caused by the fact that the money is intended for use in the loyalist territory, and many of the potential contributors are under the impression that the funds are being used to buy munitions and arms for the rebels, directed by Moscow in an attempt to start a revolution.

This impression has been spread by our professional rivals. The fact is often overlooked that coordination from the government elected democratically is the rebuke to the rebels. Yet such a picture is far from the truth.

There is no question that the present loyalist government has descended by accepted parliamentary procedure and the willed interlude of military control over civil authorities, from the government elected democratically, with the rebels. There is also, that the majority of the Spanish people are in favor of the loyalists.

Colonel Vestaé, former head of the Military Science department at the Institute, has made this statement in lecture.

The mixed complexion of the loyalists—Basques and Anarchists as well as Socialists and Communists—practically issues no outside domination problem, and they win. That fact is often overlooked that coordination among the loyalists is the result almost solely of urgent necessity.

We are not attempting to argue that the loyalist government is a democracy pure as the driven snow. As war continues it becomes necessary less and less democratic. But to one who wants to contribute in some way to relieve the suffering in Spain—we can think of more causes more worthy—and who must choose the side to which his necessarily limited contribution may go—may he choose the side that still maintains democracy to some extent, which represents the majority of the Spanish people, and whose victory would mean a Spain less dominated by other nations and therefore less likely to cause international trouble, is the loyalist side.

The Military Bureau for Aid to Spanish Democracy is not unmindful. There is still a little democracy on one side of the civil war.

OPEN FORUM
Coach Haines

EDITOR: THE TECH.

Today I learned that Bill Haines is to be relieved of his post as head coach at Tech. I am sure that every undergraduate, alumni, and crew coach who has had the privilege of knowing this great, jovial gentleman feels that young, and particularly Tech rowing, is to suffer an irreparable loss.

Bill's chief objective was to teach the fundamentals of good mastanship, but his success in this endeavor has been only temporary. No one of his pupils has learned a perfect cast, although Bill did not hesitate to teach them the styke stroke and scull substitute alike. But, every man who worked with Bill has learned that will, and will never forget. Conversely or incompletely, Bill had taught the true fundamentals of good mastanship—courtesy, graciousness, and fellowship.

No one lived to win more than he, no one knew how to lose more gracefully. With homilies has always been a sport to be enjoyed, with whom they were the sheer enjoyable, or loss. The main important thing was the development of fisticuffs and the derivation of beneficial exercise. Victories may spinal the enjoyment of a sport, but to be taught proper physical and mental self-discipline in defeat is of lasting benefit.

And so as Bill leaves his post, he must go with them the meaning of lasting comradeship, of the development of lasting fellowship. No one loved to win more than he, but no one knew how to lose more gracefully. Wit and homilies have always been a sport to be enjoyed, with whom they were the sheer enjoyable, or loss. The main important thing was the development of fisticuffs and the derivation of beneficial exercise. Victories may spinal the enjoyment of a sport, but to be taught proper physical and mental self-discipline in defeat is of lasting benefit.

And so as Bill leaves his post, he must go with them the meaning of lasting comradeship, of the development of lasting fellowship. No one loved to win more than he, but no one knew how to lose more gracefully. Wit and homilies have always been a sport to be enjoyed, with whom they were the sheer enjoyable, or loss. The main important thing was the development of fisticuffs and the derivation of beneficial exercise. Victories may spinal the enjoyment of a sport, but to be taught proper physical and mental self-discipline in defeat is of lasting benefit.

The store for men.

JORDAN MARSH COMPANY
It's Smart to be Casual... so blend your own ensemble

Sport Jacket and Slack

13$185

Jacket $12.50

Slacks $5.95

An outstanding combination is the Brown sport coat with Oxford of Cambridge gray slacks.

Sport costs...

$13.85 and $16.85

Slacks...

$4.45 to $7.50