Iberian Fight Against Fascism Lures Graduate School Students To Battlefield

Comfort in the Far East has relegated news of recent developments on the back pages of newspapers, but to those who are interested in the Spanish revolution, it is a matter of utmost importance.

The Spanish Civil War has been a struggle for the survival of democracy in Spain. The Fascists have been supported by the Nationalist forces, while the Republicans have been fighting for the peaceful coexistence of Spain.

The Students' Association of the University of California has organized a students' trip to Spain to visit the battlefields of the Spanish Civil War. The trip is scheduled for February 15th and will be led by Dr. David C. Hawley, a member of the American Society of Chemical Engineers.

Dr. Hawley, a member of the American Society of Chemical Engineers, will be the leader of the students' trip to Spain. He has been a vocal advocate of the Republican cause in Spain and has been a frequent visitor to the country.

The trip will include visits to the battlefields of the Spanish Civil War, as well as meetings with Spanish military leaders and civilian officials. The students will also have the opportunity to see the latest developments in the Spanish Civil War, as well as to meet with Spanish political leaders.

The trip is open to all students of the University of California, as well as to all interested individuals. Applications should be submitted to the Students' Association of the University of California by January 15th.
