SHORTS ON SPORTS
HOWARD J. SAMUELS, '41

FIFTY YEARS AGO

From the Tech of 1885 comes an interesting sidelight to Tech sports for two reasons: the paper is of athletic activities at M.I.T. From November 1884, "it was no surprise that the football team failed to win their games with Harvard." In November 1885 comes a more encouraging result: "It was a very pleasant day, but it was no surprise that the football team failed to win with Harvard." 1889 brought an even more surprising result: "It was a very pleasant day, but a cruel victory (see note to all) but it was no surprise that the football team lost their game with Harvard."

The Tech rifles team will travel down to Amherst tonight to fire a shot against the Naval Academy.

The Institute team had high hopes of defeating the Navy team this year, but it has suffered several casualties for its number one and number two

Our NEW Swimming Pool

Just a warning to those swimming enthusiasts who are anticipating the new swimming pool to be built in the spring. The water sprouting from that object in the lobby of Memorial Hall is not the beginning of the swimming pool. The real pool will not have spraying cold water and will be built on the hangar gym field.

QUINTET IN SECOND PLACE AGAIN

The basketball rating from the Boston Globe again placed the Tech in second place among the thirteen teams in New England.
Occupying first place is the Rhode Island College. Second teams behind the N.E.L. live include Boston University, Brown, and Tufts which are all on the Tech schedule. Strangely enough the strong Dartmouth team is rated behind Tech in spite of the record which they possess.

NEEDED — A NEW SPIRIT

From many of the Tech coaches comes the word that the main reason Tech teams fail to gain recognition is because of the poor attitude exhibited by many of the students. There is talent enough throughout the school to make our teams among the best, but many students rather hide their talents under disguise that they do not want to be rated.

They are students who must pay so much attention to their studies that they are students who must pay so much attention to their studies that they don not give an hour or two of their day to athletics, but these students are few in comparison to the many who have the time but use it in less worthy ways.

Faculty Team Takes 2nd

In Pistol League Match

With eight teams competing in the Metropolitan League Pistol Match, the M.I.T. faculty contingent took second place. While the Institute's varsity team won third. Their scores were 338 and 784 respectively.
