Nautical Society
Will Open Season
Spring Shore School To Meet For Two Weeks; Six New Bo’suns Named

The Nautical Society will start its spring shore school on Monday, March 15, from 7 to 10 p.m. in the school room. The course will meet from Monday through Friday at the same hour for two weeks under the direction of Jack Wood, sailing master. Peter J. E. Kohlberg, G. G., is in charge of a similar course for graduate students which begins Monday in the Graduate House for the first time.

With the opening of the sailing season not only one or two weeks away, six new bo’suns have been announced. They are Edgar W. Adams, Jr., Roy E. Carlin, C.W. Hamlett, C.W. Dennis, M. Doonger, Jr., R. Robert K. Davis, Jr., and James K. Tyson, Jr.

The society is inaugurating a meet with the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis to be held during the spring vacation. This would be the first meet between the two institutions to be held at Annapolis.

about the annual schedule. The "rigger-upper" is the designation coined by journalism-minded seniors in stimulus letters to the various activities of Senior Week. The editors remain anonymous, and the several items are set for the end of the year contain humorous features with the week's affairs, as well as information and schedules of events. Since the option sales reached the goal of 250 sets by the committee in making out the highest, it is practically assured that a "big-name" band will be secured to play for the Senior Ball. Harold R. Skynner, in charge of the arrangements for the Ball, will announce the selection of the orchestra sometime in the future.
