QUINT DEFEATS HARVARD

H. McCarthy Sinks Winning Tech Shot
Creamer, Farrell, And Samuels Star

A basket thrown by Coach "Horse Power" McCarthy provided the winning margin in the annual beer party and basketball game played between the Harvardillies and the Tech party-boys.

It was a rough and tumble battle. "Coco Cola" Schneider drew first blood for the Beaver quint when his pass to "Cigarette Butt" (Butt for short) Herzog bounced off "Little Boy" Wilson's head into the basket.

Harvard Stunner
Harvard players, stunned by the quick Tech attack, began to cry, making it necessary for towels to be dragged along the floor before play could be resumed.

To get back their spirit they called a technical foul.

Samuels Is After The Blonde
An exchange of nasty words reflected through the hangar as "Two Beer", alias "Play Boy". Samuels missed the foul but caught a blonde's eye in the bleachers. The game was delayed as both teams looked for Samuels. Finally "Cup" Creamer found him and then both teams looked for Samuels and Creamer. When the teams found them, the crowd looked for both teams. The Blonde was finally evicted and play started again. The battle was see and saw from then on. Half ended with the teams tied 55-55.

The Blonde's Back
The second half found the blonde back in the bleachers and both teams in reserved seats. Finally the referee sat in the bleachers with the blonde's boy friend and the blonde took the referee's position.

No sooner had the game begun than the crowd had to rush on the floor to release the blonde from the ten man clinch. After the hospital attendants picked up the parts of "Play Boy", who was on the bottom of the pile, play was resumed.

- - - - -

INSTITUTE MATA HARI
BARES ESPIONAGE PLOT

A plot to sell the R.O.T.C. Springfield rifles to Iceland was uncovered yesterday when Hepthah Lamour, promising young Institute secretary (she promised everybody), confessed under pressure (3IP/4A, by definition) her part in a nation-wide plan to sell U. S. military secrets to oppressed minorities in Iceland, the Canary Islands, Pango Pango, Tahiti, and Jersey City.

Operating from headquarters in Professor Women's office, Room S-116, Mademoiselle Lamour was apprehended by freshman company Z as she was establishing agents from the Old Howard, long recognized as a hot-bed of espionage activities, in the GBS laboratories.

She's A Mellow Chick
A dreamy young thing, usually dressed in chic burlap, with stringy hair and a glass eye (the latter a convenient place for transporting code messages), Hepthah has long been employed in undercover activities in the Technology dormitories and fraternities.

In frank terms she revealed how her betrayal resulted from her love for a prominent figure in the rubber industry who holds an important position in the T. M. laboratory of the Fluid Mechanics course at the University of Bellevue, and who is also a reserve officer.

Garter Slips And -
Last night, while disclosing to him the energy relations of laminar flow (paragraph 144 of "Introduction to Mechanics and Fluids", by N. H. Flunk, $3.99, mailed in a plain cover), she inadvertently let slip her garter, exposing all her secrets.

Properly shocked by this revelation, the rubber magnet immediately notified Major Redwing Gephousalem, who heroically rose to the occasion, dressed in chic burlap, with stringy hair and a glass eye (the latter a concealed in a false tooth, a set of statuettes, a copy of Breyee Stories, the Walker Thursday night magazine).

Lamour Betrayed
After grilling (in butter), her confession as related by the FBI revealed the scope of her work and safely camouflaged by her position as a secretary, directed subversive activities throughout the country.

Specifically, according to the activities, Miss Lamour was responsible for those U. N. American Activities hinted at last year's Junior Prom at the Vassar Street Ballroom. As this news was telegraphed last night, Harvard, Cornell, Brown, South Boston State Normal began investigations of their activities.

Other Colleges Push Probes
These and similar probes in other colleges definitely established Lamour as the head of an internal spy ring, government agents said last night.

Mademoiselle Lamour in an exclusive interview Wednesday night.

(Continued on Page 4)