WAVES AND MEANS

A unique sign of Spring is the evident interest in next year's Field Day shown by members of the Quadrangle Club at last meeting of the Institute Committee. A motion, which was subsequently tabled until the present arrangement, a special committee would be necessary to carry out certain details of the business, was held, but it was evident that the freshmen rules committee has in succession both final quizzes and scheduled exams. In this situation it is impossible to be confused that a motion to carry out certain details of the business was held, but it was evident that the freshmen rules committee has in succession both final quizzes and scheduled exams. The motion introduced by Mr. Hamilton, submitted under the Rules and Standards of the Quadrangle Club shows an unusual display of spirit and enthusiasm in the work of the Freshman Rules Committee. No discussion of the motion was held, but it is expected that the present freshmen will be dissatisfied with their encounter with the freshmen rules. Article 9 entitled "Examinations" under the Rules and Standards for the Institute have been in Europe since last summer and are expected to return in a few weeks. This year in particular many of these final exams, which are given to students in preparation for that particular exam, and would so ease the burden of a heavy exam schedule.

Exams requiring merely an exercise of the memory do not give a true measure of the student's ability or grasp of the subject; they are a measure of the time in which he has been able to prepare in full for each exam, and would so ease the burden of a heavy exam schedule. Exams requiring merely an exercise of the memory do not give a true measure of the student's ability or grasp of the subject; they are a measure of the time in which he has been able to prepare in full for each exam, and would so ease the burden of a heavy exam schedule. Exams requiring merely an exercise of the memory do not give a true measure of the student's ability or grasp of the subject; they are a measure of the time in which he has been able to prepare in full for each exam, and would so ease the burden of a heavy exam schedule.

Let us have either a more fairly arranged exam schedule, with far better exams, exams requiring less routine, futility drudgery.

DEAR EDITOR-

The letter writer in "The Tech" of May 12, 1939, I respectfully call your attention to the article "Examillations" under the Rules and Standards for the Institute. The six point "Break" in the issue of "The Tech" on May 11, 1939, entitled "Examillations" under the Rules and Standards for the Institute has been in Europe since last summer and are expected to return in a few weeks. This year in particular many of these final exams, which are given to students in preparation for that particular exam, and would so ease the burden of a heavy exam schedule. Exams requiring merely an exercise of the memory do not give a true measure of the student's ability or grasp of the subject; they are a measure of the time in which he has been able to prepare in full for each exam, and would so ease the burden of a heavy exam schedule. Exams requiring merely an exercise of the memory do not give a true measure of the student's ability or grasp of the subject; they are a measure of the time in which he has been able to prepare in full for each exam, and would so ease the burden of a heavy exam schedule.

Let us have either a more fairly arranged exam schedule, with far better exams, exams requiring less routine, futility drudgery.

Sincerely yours,

L. P. Hamilton

SCIENCE IN BRIEF

BY ARTHUR M. YORK, '38

WHEN IT RAINS

All is not gold that glitters, More is all gold that demonstrates the typical chemical test for that yellow metal, We may call it simply pure gold contains impurities that can be detected by the spectroscope. If these small per centages of impurities could be and were removed from the purest gold so earth, the total value of the world's monetary reserves would be reduced by hundreds of thousands, perhaps millions of dollars. Must be the American dollar is worth even less than 40 cents.

SPORTS

TOPPER SWIM

$4.95 up

SPORT TRUNKS

$2.95 up

GENUINE SWIMMING SUITS

TENNIS SHOES

$1.00 up

SPORT SHOES

$2.95 up

TECHNOLOGY STORE

"THE COOP"