The conclusioning speaker of the day was Joseph H. Greenspan, 49, who explained some of the dangers associated with boys' work. He spoke of the inner urge of stubbornness which causes them to engage in such work.

He also explained the project which sent one hundred boys to Europe during the summer season of the expenses of the T.C.A.

Predicts Large Boys' Work Group

According to Greenspan there are thirty boys signed up for the Boys' Work Division who were unable to attend the meeting because of their work in the mine on this, he predicted that the division this year would perhaps be the largest ever.
