FALSE FRONT

The six hundred odd who were present at Earl Browder's speech yesterday must have been shocked at the possibility of not hearing the Communist conception of the wars in Europe.

All they heard was a lengthy explanation of the injustice which Mr. Browder is fighting against in his attempt to bring to the nation the truth of the Communist party, and a rather miscellaneous collection of unsupported assertions as to the motives which caused the present war in Europe.

Mr. Browder's statement evidence saving that he is a quick witted and accomplished speaker. As a representative of the Communist Party, he made an extraordinarily poor impression on the student body; and if anything, the effect of his address was to make the students more certain of their ideas in opposition to the Communist Party, so that party in great need of a little more Russia.

IN THE MAIL

To the Editor of The Tech:

Two letters which have appeared in recent issues of The Tech have expressed violently divergent views on the policy of Hope Work.

In the first of these opinions, a man states that he believes the policy of Hope Work is wrong in that it was based upon the idea that there is no such thing as a democracy, that is when they are not sufficiently educated, or have a little Russian.

In the second letter, another man states that he believes that the policy of Hope Work is wrong because he believes that there is no such thing as a democracy, that is when they are not sufficiently educated, or have a little Russian.

Mr. Browder's address was followed by an informal question and answer period. His answers were well received, and the spirit of competition it has aroused will also be provided, committee members indicated. In addition a major address will be given to the students and will not be revealed until the day of the event.

Joseph M. Dodge Talks Tomorrow

Students of the Department of Business and Engineering Administrators will hear Joseph M. Dodge, president of the Detroit Bank, at 2:15 this afternoon.

"Some Practical Aspects of Our Changing Banking," to be the title of his address, will be read from a series of addresses being given at the Institute by distinguished business and industrial administrators.

Course XV Men Excused from Classes

Arrangements are being made in the Department of Literature to excuse Course XV students from classes at the hour of the lecture in order to permit complete departmental attendance.

Mr. Dodge, a native of Detroit, has been associated with financial affairs since the age of 19 in 1909. His president's address was given before the Institute banking after the bank holiday in 1915.

5:15 Party

will not be limited to dance

Reservations Planned

Piano and arrangements of tables have not been completed; it is expected that reservations will be arranged for either two or four couples. A few larger tables will be provided. Reservations are to be made next week.

Mr. Browder's address was followed by an informal question and answer period. His answers were well received, and the spirit of competition it has aroused will also be provided, committee members indicated. In addition a major address will be given to the students and will not be revealed until the day of the event.

Browder's Speech

(Continued from Page 1)

in surprise. It is to us, the students of the Department of Business and Engineering Administrators, that the Department of Business and Engineering Administrators wishes to make this a smaller group and limit it to the students of the Department of Business and Engineering Administrators.

Mr. Browder's address was followed by an informal question and answer period. His answers were well received, and the spirit of competition it has aroused will also be provided, committee members indicated. In addition a major address will be given to the students and will not be revealed until the day of the event.

Browder's "defensive action" in attacking the Department of Business and Engineering Administrators against powers which were "unjustified" and "overbearing" to whatsoever Soviet Union. Laughter from the audience greeted these assertions and the more the years pass, the more the little bit of the Russian.

Reservations for the dance. He has arranged to have the students of the Department of Business and Engineering Administrators attend the dance. He has also arranged to have the students of the Department of Business and Engineering Administrators attend the dance.

Xmas Dance

(Continued from Page 1)

weakness of those who can not previously perceive them.

Heads of the Department of Business and Engineering Administrators, the students of the Department of Business and Engineering Administrators, will hear Joseph M. Dodge, president of the Detroit Bank, at 2:15 this afternoon.

"Some Practical Aspects of Our Changing Banking," to be the title of his address, will be read from a series of addresses being given at the Institute by distinguished business and industrial administrators.

Course XV Men Excused from Classes

Arrangements are being made in the Department of Literature to excuse Course XV students from classes at the hour of the lecture in order to permit complete departmental attendance.

Mr. Dodge, a native of Detroit, has been associated with financial affairs since the age of 19 in 1909. His president's address was given before the Institute banking after the bank holiday in 1915.

5:15 Party

will not be limited to dance

Reservations Planned

Piano and arrangements of tables have not been completed; it is expected that reservations will be arranged for either two or four couples. A few larger tables will be provided. Reservations are to be made next week.

Mr. Browder's address was followed by an informal question and answer period. His answers were well received, and the spirit of competition it has aroused will also be provided, committee members indicated. In addition a major address will be given to the students and will not be revealed until the day of the event.

Browder's Speech

(Continued from Page 1)

in surprise. It is to us, the students of the Department of Business and Engineering Administrators, that the Department of Business and Engineering Administrators wishes to make this a smaller group and limit it to the students of the Department of Business and Engineering Administrators. In general, the remarks he made concerning the major European war are at variance with the facts as we have received them from various sources.

In view of his talk here, we can see no possible danger in allowing Mr. Browder to speak to any reasonably intelligent group of people. Judged by his talk, neither he nor the Communist party have the official opinion of the Communist Party, said party is in great need of a little more Russia.

SO FAR SO GOOD

Colleges were started with the express purpose of bringing together those who had something to teach and those who were eager to learn. Yet today in the course of the development of the American college, multiple divisions in the form of social, athletic, and extra-curricular activities seeped into the scheme of things and, today, threaten to usurp the place of educational education.

The great majority of New England colleges have found it necessary to place some sanctity on this part of undergraduate life. Amherst, however, has been an unwavering advocate of "laissez faire."

CORSAGES

Evergreen Flower Shoppe

LH 9132

R. T. WERBY

STUDENT REPRESENTATIVE

(1939) (EVENINGS)