New Swimming Pool Dedicated

LON. 9132

THE TECH

Young Speaks For Class of '13

Observation Window Provided

For Quality Broadcast Reception

BOTTLED LIQUORS

THE RADIO SHACK CORPORATION

167 WASHINGTON STREET, BOSTON

36.60

THE BROWNING FREQUENCY

Representatives depicted earlier symbols of their course into a "sailing" past. The history, achievements, and trials and tribulations of the Class of '49's four years here at Technology were reviewed by Marshal P. Beutner, in the Beaver Orator. Beutner gave tributes and thanks to the Institute staff and is in tribute to Dr. Compton. "All present have felt the inspiring leadership of Dr. Compton."

Dr. Frank P. Beutner, W. president of the Alumni Association, then presented the Alumni Class Banner of the Class of '40 to David Merzachener, in the closing event of the program.

The Browning Frequency

Modulated Receiver

The Browning Frequency

Modulated Receiver

Representatives depicted earlier symbols of their course into a "sailing" past. The history, achievements, and trials and tribulations of the Class of '49's four years here at Technology were reviewed by Marshall P. Beutner, in the Beaver Orator. Beutner gave tributes and thanks to the Institute staff and is in tribute to Dr. Compton. "All present have felt the inspiring leadership of Dr. Compton."

Dr. Frank P. Beutner, W. president of the Alumni Association, then presented the Alumni Class Banner of the Class of '40 to David Merzachener, in the closing event of the program.

THE BROWNING FREQUENCY

Modulated Receiver

Representatives depicted earlier symbols of their course into a "sailing" past. The history, achievements, and trials and tribulations of the Class of '49's four years here at Technology were reviewed by Marshall P. Beutner, in the Beaver Orator. Beutner gave tributes and thanks to the Institute staff and is in tribute to Dr. Compton. "All present have felt the inspiring leadership of Dr. Compton."

Dr. Frank P. Beutner, W. president of the Alumni Association, then presented the Alumni Class Banner of the Class of '40 to David Merzachener, in the closing event of the program.

THE BROWNING FREQUENCY

Modulated Receiver

Representatives depicted earlier symbols of their course into a "sailing" past. The history, achievements, and trials and tribulations of the Class of '49's four years here at Technology were reviewed by Marshall P. Beutner, in the Beaver Orator. Beutner gave tributes and thanks to the Institute staff and is in tribute to Dr. Compton. "All present have felt the inspiring leadership of Dr. Compton."

Dr. Frank P. Beutner, W. president of the Alumni Association, then presented the Alumni Class Banner of the Class of '40 to David Merzachener, in the closing event of the program.

THE BROWNING FREQUENCY

Modulated Receiver

Representatives depicted earlier symbols of their course into a "sailing" past. The history, achievements, and trials and tribulations of the Class of '49's four years here at Technology were reviewed by Marshall P. Beutner, in the Beaver Orator. Beutner gave tributes and thanks to the Institute staff and is in tribute to Dr. Compton. "All present have felt the inspiring leadership of Dr. Compton."

Dr. Frank P. Beutner, W. president of the Alumni Association, then presented the Alumni Class Banner of the Class of '40 to David Merzachener, in the closing event of the program.

THE BROWNING FREQUENCY

Modulated Receiver

Representatives depicted earlier symbols of their course into a "sailing" past. The history, achievements, and trials and tribulations of the Class of '49's four years here at Technology were reviewed by Marshall P. Beutner, in the Beaver Orator. Beutner gave tributes and thanks to the Institute staff and is in tribute to Dr. Compton. "All present have felt the inspiring leadership of Dr. Compton."

Dr. Frank P. Beutner, W. president of the Alumni Association, then presented the Alumni Class Banner of the Class of '40 to David Merzachener, in the closing event of the program.

THE BROWNING FREQUENCY

Modulated Receiver

Representatives depicted earlier symbols of their course into a "sailing" past. The history, achievements, and trials and tribulations of the Class of '49's four years here at Technology were reviewed by Marshall P. Beutner, in the Beaver Orator. Beutner gave tributes and thanks to the Institute staff and is in tribute to Dr. Compton. "All present have felt the inspiring leadership of Dr. Compton."

Dr. Frank P. Beutner, W. president of the Alumni Association, then presented the Alumni Class Banner of the Class of '40 to David Merzachener, in the closing event of the program.

THE BROWNING FREQUENCY

Modulated Receiver

Representatives depicted earlier symbols of their course into a "sailing" past. The history, achievements, and trials and tribulations of the Class of '49's four years here at Technology were reviewed by Marshall P. Beutner, in the Beaver Orator. Beutner gave tributes and thanks to the Institute staff and is in tribute to Dr. Compton. "All present have felt the inspiring leadership of Dr. Compton."

Dr. Frank P. Beutner, W. president of the Alumni Association, then presented the Alumni Class Banner of the Class of '40 to David Merzachener, in the closing event of the program.