Nine Juniors Join the E. E. Honors Group Students Are Allowed Independent Action; Classes Voluntary

Nine members of the Class of 1942 have joined the E. E. Honors Group in the department of electrical engineering, the department announced this week.

They are Charles L. Kimes, Paul A. Hobbe, Robert L. Jacobson, Stewart N. Thomas, Alan M. Bruce, Claude F. McMichael, Frank J. Cottrell, Jr., Ernest E. Granger, Jr., and George J. Zwickel.

Have Special Section

The group is elected at the beginning of the second semester of senior year. Instead of meeting with regular classes and following the usual curriculum throughout the junior and senior years, these students conduct their courses entirely independently. They are, however, under the guidance of special instructors recruited specifically for them, and the courses are evaluated and awarded credit by the faculty.

Close Attendance Voluntary

The E. E. Honors Group offers to its members the unique opportunity to join a broader knowledge of the professional status of their courses. The group, being voluntary, is designed to foster the development of originality and self-reliance.
