Dramashop Presents Compton's "Fiddler"

"The Adding Machine," a musical, is to be presented by the Dramashop at the Room 11-80, the first time since December 14, instead of December 7, as originally scheduled. The play lasts for seven weeks, which is considerably longer than the other acts in the play's current full series. The play will be directed by Emerick Ross, who has been chosen from any member of the Dramashop next week, or may be selected in the Dramashop office, Room 11-80.
