THE DISINFRINGEMENT SCORES AGAIN

Last night the Medical Department announced a wide expansion in its services toward safeguarding Technology health including the introduction of emergency ambulances and resuscitation service.

In addition to these added services, schedules have been rearranged so that doctors are in attendance at the Infirmary all hours during the day instead of just limited periods as in the past. Telephone installations have also been made so that the students, faculty, and campus officials, doctors, and nurses may be reached directly without the necessity of first calling the Infirmary.

Special cards have been drawn up containing information about emergency instructions and procedure which are to be distributed to all the fraternity houses and Institute buildings. The Medical Department’s aim is to publicize the Infirmary so that a student’s first thought in time of stress will be to come to or call the Infirmary. Medical aid takes precedence over legal aid.

We think that the Medical Department deserves the thanks of the student body and the last in general; not only for these newly assumed tasks but for the continued increase in the medical care provided Technology by members. Instead of being about over-worked, the department goes out of its way hunting more and better ways to protect our physical well-being.

Speaking for Technology as a whole, we wish to take this opportunity to publicly thank the Medical Department and committee for their work in our behalf. They have proved once more that they are A-1 in time of peace as well as in time of war with the gripes AF.

POLICEMAN!

By this time classes in Building 1 must be hardened to the almost daily crash and bang which occurs at the intersection of Massachusetts Drive and Massachusetts Avenue. We are sure that Institute students do not object to the almost daily congestion that people may be hurt, since that is all part of that hard game called life. But we are just as certain that they do object to their economics, applied mechanics, and similar subjects being continuously interrupted by these jams.

Even at the busiest time of the day, there is rarely ever any traffic supervision at this intersection. If this is not too bad, some sort of traffic light should be installed. Should this prove to be impractical, some sort of traffic supervision should be arranged for the rush hours.

Of course, this matter is not one directly connected with the Institute, being entirely in the hands of the Cambridge Police District. However, Institute authorities have every right to ask the M.A.C. to institute a system which would help to prevent the congestion and frequent accidents that occur at this spot.

While on the subject of traffic regulations, the point arises as to what is going to happen to parking facilities with the erection of the new dorms. In the present lot used so recklessly as a parking lot. Before this, parking space had become rather scarce, and with the increased activity at the Institute.

We think that the Institute should request the local authorities to institute a proper system of parking restrictions from Massachusetts Avenue and Memorial Drive. As far as we can see, there is no real great congestion of cars so much as there is a general disregard of law which defeats the whole purpose anyway.

As it stands now, the law enforcement is sporadic so that after a week of no enforcement all of a sudden everyone has a parking space. This is not proper, in the eyes of most people, and doesn’t keep the street clear of parked cars. At any rate it is a problem that the Institute could tackle to the benefit of those with parking worries.

For Boys To Play

by Stewart Sloan and Joseph Tankosic

I into "Bill" Cardwell’s office for the first time, I notice a large box of letters from all over the country. With some thousand telegrams sent out in one season, the letter box fills. But when I get the chance committee expects nearly seven hundred to be present inside inMerrill Hall.

Generally conceded to be one of the most important social events of the fall, the Annual Ball of the M.I.T. Athletic Subsociety will draw large numbers of socially inclined Institute men in addition to the numbers coming from out of town.

Arriving by airplane this morning at 3:30 is Miss Grace Roberts of Long Island who will be at tonight’s dance as a guest of honor. She is expected to arrive by air sometime tonight along with Miss Maria Haynes.

Plan to the dance a reception will be held for the committee and guests at 6:00 o’clock, and a buffet will be served in Lechmere Lounge. Honoring the receiving line will be Dean Donald Cameron, Director of Student Affairs, and plenty of assistance from wives of other faculty members present.

Before dinner and its activities will provide the excitement for this evening. Gamble, his orchestra and their excellent vocalists, have played at a large number of parties across the country, and are expected to air by air sometime tonight any a variety of music and songs.

The dance social of the evening will be held for the committee and guests and will be advertised.

The Student-Faculty Committee should be a live wire organization or it should be allowed to die a natural death.

Two Crofts III labs, Class of ’42, were nearly upset at the gate by the referees. The contestants, in this case the college and the university, are playing in "Nice Girl". This recently revived Miss Davis is apparently fighting for a third time. She will play in Lechmere Lounge.

The old must go

Two Crofts III labs, Class of ’42, were nearly upset at the gate by the referees. The contestants, in this case the college and the university, are playing in "Nice Girl". This recently revived Miss Davis is apparently fighting for a third time. She will play in Lechmere Lounge.

The old must go

Two Crofts III labs, Class of ’42, were nearly upset at the gate by the referees. The contestants, in this case the college and the university, are playing in "Nice Girl". This recently revived Miss Davis is apparently fighting for a third time. She will play in Lechmere Lounge.

The old must go

Two Crofts III labs, Class of ’42, were nearly upset at the gate by the referees. The contestants, in this case the college and the university, are playing in "Nice Girl". This recently revived Miss Davis is apparently fighting for a third time. She will play in Lechmere Lounge.