By Coach George Brueh
This afternoon at four o'clock, Joe McMillan will fire his gun to open the 59th Annual New England Track Invitational games on Briggs Field. Spring meets have been held to give the coaches a chance to see who should be picked to enter the meet. The meet begins at six o'clock and will continue to the end of the season. The meet will be run on the track. Briggs Field is strong in the 440, 880, track and distance events. They have a good hurdle field in place last year, and should place in both hurdles events this year. They also have power in the pole, broad jump, and high jump. The outstanding men are Henry H. Page, and George Brueh.

These awards are made annually from the interest of a bequest of a generous old man made by the late John A. Boll. The purpose of this annual contest, as noted in the will of the late Mr. Boll, is to "give a yellow jacket to the best student." The contest is limited to freshmen.
