Basketball
Remain Pleased At 8:35
Despite all rumors and previous reports of reductions in ticket prices for the varsity basketball season opener to be played against Harvard next Friday evening, admission will be priced at fifty-five cents per person.

Attempts were made by the athletic board to obtain reduced rates for Technology students, and to this end a newspaper was circulated in the Harvard campus, advertising that a reduced price should be charged. It is said that the procedure could not be established and that the price would remain at its established level.

Beaten Debutants Will Face Vassar
Harvard, Vt., Emerson Falls Before Tech-Men
In Four Day Stretch
The Technology Debating Society will again go into action next Thursday, December 4, when they meet with Vassar in one of their series of preliminary debates, which are broadcast over station B.A.R.
At this time, Raymond P. Prohmel, '43, was elected to the Debating Board of the society, announced that the debate for the annual winter's meeting will be awarded a silver cup, and, finally, the dance.

The silver cup will be awarded to the winners of All-Tech Sing.

Graduate Students To See 42'S Senior Week
Bursar's Lecture, Cash, Or R.O.T.C. Check
Options
Graduate students will be eligible to attend this year's Senior Week trips with the Class of '42 if it was announced last night by Paul M. Brackmann, chairman of the Senior Week sales committee, who read out an opening day of lively tickets sales.

In addition to the sale of options to graduate students as well as seniors, three plans of payment for the options have been put into operation. Payment may be made by Mr. Brackmann's desk charge whereby the fee will be paid along with the second term's tuition, by a deduction from a ROTC check if a member of the advanced class, or by paying the $4.90 cash or check.

Senior Dance January 9
Carl L. Isaacs, '43, chairman of the dance committee, announced that the date for the annual winter's meeting will be February 9.

First Dorm Dance
Proved Successful
"The first informal dormitory record dance was a complete social and formal success," said Robert W. Rekling, '43, chairman of the dance held in Pritchett Hall last Saturday, December 5. According to Keating, out of the sixty tickets issued, fifteen were sold. The reason why there were tickets left at all was attributed to premature announcement of a select committee.

Arthur Murray Instructs
All the dance was given instructors from the Arthur Murray school who gave instruction in the Rhumba and other things. According to Rekling, the reaction to this was entirely favorable.

The next dance in this series has been chosen for January 30. As yet, no changes in procedures have been announced. The chairman for this dance will be John O. Mullin, '43.

Christmas Dance To Have Life
Gahan Promises "Final" Give More Danceable Music
"There won't be a dull moment during the entire evening," said Mr. Gahan, announcing plans for the annual dance to take place on December 13. In keeping with this, the occasion, costing $7.50 each, are all rated to attract a full house.

According to Gahan, this will be the biggest informal dance of the college, and there will be the most guests to attend the festivities.

Don Gahan, whose orchestra has been contracted to play for this event, announced that the band will be the danceable type, while jive bands will also have the opportunity to have their fling.

Mr. Gahan noted for his ability to stimulate some of the bigger names in the field, such as Artie Shaw, and Green Miller.
