Bowdoin at the end of the second period.

The victory over Bowdoin completed the puckster's hockey season. As for league encounters, it was only in the last two games that the Beavers succeeded in winning. In spite of this the fact has been lost a much better record than last year. Last season the puckster's

Lowell Textile Squad Edges Tech By Single Point

Beavers Fail To Knot Count In Late Rally

With Dolan, Artz Out

The Tech basketeers wound up their season on Friday night when they met their first defeat on the home floor at the hands of a slyly Lowell Textile aggregation. Going into the second half with a 19-14 lead the Beavers were unable to find the hoop and with five minutes, to the visitors rallied late and in the last minutes of play the engineurs cut the lead to one point but were unable to close the gap and the final count stood 25-19.

The opponents were without the services of star Pestuky, who has averaged 13 points a game throughout the season but they managed to pull off the home team.

The game was unusual for the large number of fouling which cost the Beavers the services of Ernie Artz and Red Dolan for the final crucial moments. George Marakas and Jerry Coe set the individual scoring race for the locals with 9 points apiece while Coffin and Lamon paced the invaders attack with 12 counters each.

Coach Sees Good Season
For Tech Lacrosse Team

Starting with a bang, the Tech- rosky lacrosse team had its first practice yesterday at 5:00 P.M. be- fore the board track with an ex- cellent turnout. Because of the current and a month's practice due before their first meet, the coach, Bob Maddux, and the managers an- ticipate a good season.

With little publicity the team found twoOpp Haley and several freshmen repeating. The first meet will probably be with Stevens Institute of Technology early in April. Among those ex- pected to play prominent parts this year is Bob Given, recently placed on the second All New England team.
