The Tech Staff Has Annual Outing At Green Acres

Western fried chicken, green peas, mashed potato, strawberry shortcake, all these and thousands more were served Sunday at the Annual Western Fried Chicken Dinner of the Green Acres Country Club in Somerville, Massachusetts.

Facilities for softball, outdoor tennis, croquet, and other sports were utilized, but all along there was a pond nearby, a swimming pool and a dining room.

Several cold games in which almost everyone took part.

The dinner was both well cooked and bountiful, a four-course master-piece. Probably the strawberry shortcake came in a second place among previous festivities which have had some variety. The macaroons and amebility before the first round will be replaced by a second round.

Among sixty members of the staff and their dates attended the event. Among them were John F. Tyrrell, '43, general manager; Horace Oltiger, '43, editor; James Nowell, '43, literary editor; and Charles O. Markley, who arranged the plans.
