The Tech

November 24, 1942

Volume XXI

Managing Editor
John F. Tyrell, '44
Harry Oettinger, Jr., '45

Assistant Managing Editor
A. Donald Moll, '44

Business Manager
Robert M. Stoever, '44

For Boys To Play

Editor: George Schenck

Air Raid Center Maintains Twenty-Four Hour Vigilance

Organized by the Departments of Civilian Defense and Public Relations, the Air Raid Center has been maintaining a twenty-four hour vigilance, and it is a part of the nation's defense against possible raids. The center is responsible for coordinating civilian defense efforts and ensuring that all necessary precautions are taken.

Subscriptions:

Published every Tuesday and Friday during College Year.

eight For Year

Served as Second Class Matter at the Boston Post Office

THE TECH

Rationing Adds to War Difficulties (Of Dining Service)

(Continued from Page 1)

Bridges, Director of the Dining Service, has taken the lead in pushing for adequate supplies of meat, poultry, and eggs. He has emphasized in no uncertain terms that the rationing system must be strictly enforced, and that the Dining Service must cooperate fully with the new regulations. Bridges believes that the system will work if and only if it is run consistently and fairly by all concerned.

In an effort to improve the situation, Bridges has suggested that the Dining Service consider a system of advance registration for all events. This would allow the Dining Service to plan its menus in advance and ensure that there is enough food for everyone. He has also suggested that the Dining Service consider using local suppliers whenever possible, to reduce the amount of food that needs to be shipped from afar.

Despite these efforts, Bridges acknowledges that the situation is far from ideal, and that there will be shortages of certain items. He urges all students to be patient and understanding, and to support the Dining Service in its efforts to provide the best possible service under the circumstances.

For Proms and Parties

In order to accommodate the high demand for food and drinks, the Dining Service has had to make some changes to its usual practices. For example, guests are now required to make reservations for all events, and the Dining Service has had to limit the amount of alcohol that can be served at any one time.

Despite these changes, Bridges remains optimistic about the future. He believes that the Dining Service can and will improve the situation with the help of all concerned, and that the best solution is to work together to find ways to make the best use of the available resources.

The Reader Speaks

The Tech Dear Sir:

For a long time now there has been a rivalry between THE TECH and VOQ DOO at THE TECH and VOQ DOO have]}