For these reasons and perhaps others, the current wave of rumors has caught us in the same position a year after Pearl Harbor.

Under a speed-up, year-round program without a change in the academic atmosphere, 4000 students have already entered the forces. 128 Faculty members are in government service, and 3960 students are on active duty. Students going into war get a semester or longer's work, but when the war is over, they will have to find Methods of relaxation.

There is a belief that nearly a fifth are married.

A. Donald Moll, '43

Collegiate Digest

 contemplative evenings and a wide-spread distribution of pamphlets and booklets by the Office of Public Information, the National Committee for Unemployment Insurance, and other agencies, groups, and organizations. But the public's interest is not piqued, and no one is motivated to take action. The Enlisted Reserve Program ostensibly was to perform the same function when it was presented to the students. Still there is no certainty one way or another. So, back to the battle, and to the W's for another signal.