Tech Rifle Team Faces Active Week

Matches With Wentworth, Yale, West Point Carded

This weekend the Technology riflemen will shoot two postal matches with the Yale and Westport Institute teams according to Bob Wood, manager of the team. Also this weekend on January 9 the team will journey to West Point to face the U.S. Military Academy in a shoulder to shoulder match. The West Pointers are the only man left on the board, and in these matches all three positions will be used, that is firing from prone, standing and kneeling positions.

The lineup for the trip to West Point will be: Varsity-Atchley, Winters; Wood, Manager, Woodworth, Senior, T. R. Quisenberry, Wood, Sophomore, A. K. Rosol, and Amthor. In the postal matches another man will complete the Beavers while Quisenberry and Oztor will serve as alternates.

The team is scheduled to meet Tufts, Northeastern, Lowell Institute, New Hampshire, Vermont, Norwich, Harvard, Wurcled Polytechnic Institute, Boston University, Connecticut State College, and the varsity rifle team from New York University during which time the varsity rifle team finally emerged victorious and has lost only one man this season, and the team will journey to West Point to face the U.S. Military Academy in a shoulder to shoulder match. Relay Team Will Go To Meet In New York

The Beaver runners turned out yesterday for their first official practice session of the new year next week in preparation for the indoor winter season. The big meet is on February 6 in New York City when the Melrose games will be held on the indoor track in Madison Square Garden. Coach O. Hodland is planning to send a relay team to compete in that event. Most of the large colleges and universities from New England will send representatives.

The Melrose games are the biggest of the indoor events held during the winter season and usually include stars of national and intercollegiate importance. Though Cornelia Warmerd of 15 feet 2 inches long is the record holder is expected to be among the top stars. Ireland Bailey as well as Senior Ed Oar is expected to compete on the team. Surely Bailey will shoot an equal or better year's team looks equally as good as last year's aggregation if not better this year.\n
Several of the club's better performers, each scoring two goals for the All-star cause. Tech is having a field day in the tournament for the third time. West Point men were asked to play for the All-Stars and tech men were asked to play for West Point men. The entire program was entirely composed of Tech men and the team played well.
