Ella Fitzgerald To Sing
With Sabby Lewis' Band; Marsala Also To Play

Tickets Now On Sale
For Dance To Be Held At Staluter, April 9

Babby Lewis' orchestra with Ella Fitzgerald will be part of the music at the All-Tech Prom to be held under the Interfraternity Conference, in the Imperial Ballroom of the Hotel Statler April 9. It was announced last night by Lewis Tyree Jr., '43, dance chairman.

Joe Marsala will supply the swing music for the evening's dancing. Marsala is well known to Columbia, which has been playing in various places in New York for the past two years.

Tickets for the dance are being sold at the Statler to members of the class of '44, the 5:15 Club, and the Dormitory Committee. The price of tickets is $1.00, and no one will get a ticket without getting it from an eligible member, as present indentations are that only those who will actually be in attendance for the dance are now being registered with William B. Richardson.

Other business at the meeting held last night at Smith House, included a discussion of whether the I.F.C. should get its own yearbook, on the same scale as the complete yearbook, on the same scale as the 1943 edition, published in July.

"The techies," as students have been calling them, have been decided -that 11 houses were in favor of a yearbook should it be published early, representing the class of '44.

"The 1944 Technique," as it has been designated, has been given at the Institute in Room 340 and 340-A on Friday, April 8 from 9:00 A.M. to 11:00 A.M.
