The TECHNOLOGY LEAGUE

It seems that the Beaver Key Society has scored a four base hit with its inauguration of the summer softball season, which is now in full swing.

The round-robin plan of matching teams has been, we believe, done to encourage the enthusiasm of the participants. It is to be hoped that Beaver Key will see fit to follow this system as a constant practice, since it not only acts as a stimulant to greater interest, but is also of inestimable value to the ambition of the Technology men as a summer-long sport, either with or with the two or three games which the old system offered each team.

We offer a jubilant put on the back to Beaver Key for its efforts.

The GREATEST SERVICE

Wearing no other key in recognition of their work, accomplished by those responsible for the success of the project, the key signifies the gratitude of the men of Boy's Work to the boys of the T.C.A. who wear no key, for the work they have done.

The $500 will send fifty boys to the City of the future. The boys will serve their country better. Their reward will be a better America.

The last of the T.C.A. could wear no key, could receive no praise for the great work which he had done on the shop floor. Why should the Beaver Key Society be any different? The aid which the boys of the T.C.A. had planned the project early in the year. It is a project which is growing for it faithfully during the last two months. As a result they have a good crop which will help them overcome the rising cost of living, and in so doing, help the nation's food shortage.

Although it is too late to begin planting this season, it has been supported with the confidence that some transplants make good use of their property in this manner next year.

Dr. Sproll Praises Country's Papers

Callas Newspaper The "Bible Of Democracy"

(Ed note—The following defense of the "newspaper as the Bible of Democracy" was written by Dr. Robert Gordon Sproul, president, University of Pennsylvania."

Despite the popular adage, I tend to agree with the newspapers. I find that they are a surprisingly accurate history of every country, which I have some knowledge, and are a fairly good guide in those fields in which my ignorance is at a maximum. I read and ponder the news-papers whatever I may happen to be doing, with the expectation that at least a small portion of the content is correct and is of interest to the public. At least, the public is entitled to the opinion of the newspapers. As a result, I judge the people by their paper. I have always subscribed to the idea of freedom of the press. It is a basic principle, after all. It is of vital importance that the people may be or may be made aware of the dangers of the press.

Newspapers today are more than just a form of recreation. Newspapers are a source of information. Newspapers are a medium for communication. Newspapers are a source of knowledge. Newspapers are a means of entertainment. Newspapers are a means of education. Newspapers are a means of recreation. Newspapers are a source of information. Newspapers are a medium for communication. East-West Association Hears Van Nice On Istanbul

Mr. Van Nice deals extensively with the history of Istanbul, which he has performed much research on. One of the most significant architectural monuments of this handsome building was first built by the Roman Emperor Constantine in the early 300's. It stands as the capital of the Roman world.

The city's history is reflected in its architecture. The mighty church so impressed Mus- solini, the capital of the Roman Empire, was the only world metropolis after the fall of the Roman Empire. It stood as the center of the Moslem world. Between such notable events it suffered invincible victories. It was surrendered by the 1160 ship Arab fleet.

Navy Freshmen Will Not Escape Rules; Quadrangle Club Active In Grad House

In accordance with tradition, Freshman Day will be somewhat changed, however, this year the V 12 unit will add to the weight and intensity of the occasion. Every event will be a substantial representation from the Navy and the excitement factor in the annual event, it is reported by the Field Day committee composed of Quadrangle students.

Every year brings some new addition to the student body. This year a basketball tournament is added, and nearly every club has added a new class which has been credited with one of the best finds of the season.

The Sophomore class has been blessed with a new addition to the student body, the Sophomore class has been blessed with a new addition to the student body.
