V-12 Unit Receives Athletic Equipment
Self Defense Taught By Oouting Team

Equipment including boxing gloves, footballs, basketballs, and other sports equipment was donated to the University by the Commonwealth of Massachusetts. It was accepted by the V-12 unit and will be put to use in the second phase of the physical program approved by Captain Joseph C. O'Leary, and under the direction of Captain Victor N. O'Leary, chief medical officer.

The athletic program, under the auspices of Captain N. C. O'Leary, is a part of the weekly physical program. The first eight weeks are designed to whip the men into condition; the second eight weeks are designed to whip them into perfect physical condition. The third eight weeks are used as an instructional period in the fundamentals of self-defense.

Second Period Starting

This is the second phase of the physical conditioning that has now been completed by the V-12 unit. The second phase of the program has now begun. Along with this program, it is hoped that the second phase will continue next year.

The last nine weeks were completed, and the second eight weeks began in addition to the physical program. The third eight weeks will be required to pay his own fees. Non-members are entitled to the privileges of the club. The fee is $1.00.

Work Camp

The members of the club will hold two trips during the summer under the auspices of the Inter-collegiate Outing Club's organization, and chapters on the various activities written by the members who have the most experience in them. Thus, the handbook will be in the hands of the men; the handbook will be kept up in the Outing Club office.

The Outing Club handbook will be placed in the hands of the members of the third Senior members. The third eight weeks will be required to pay his own fees. Non-members are entitled to the privileges of the club. The fee is $1.00.
