Play To Be Staged Tomorrow Night

Paul Harney Takes Leading Dramatic Role

which, according to Professor Fuller, has a very good reputation for its actresses.

Pulitzer Prize Winner

The Pulitzer Prize for Drama, which was awarded yesterday by the Pulitzer Board, was first presented to Thornton Wilder, was first presented to Thornton Wilder, who presents the American stage as it stands today, or as it will stand tomorrow, or as it has stood in the past.

Our "Town" is the story of the life of a small New Hampshire town. There is little sonnetry, and the settings and time intervals are explicated by the stage manager, who gives a running commentary throughout the play. The first act shows an ordinary day in the Town, Green, and the second act introduces us to the people who get to know George and Emily, who go to college, and their families and friends.

In the second act they are about to get married. There is the usual jockeying for positions, the playback to school, and the Stage Manager asks, "What leads up to this decision to spend the rest of their lives together?"

The first act leads up to this decision to spend the rest of their lives together. "In the final analysis, the play is a beautiful play."

Robert W. Connor, 2-46; Simon 2-44, while the part of Mrs. Gibbs C. Edwardson, 2-46. Dr. Gibbs will write a letter to "Our Town".

From West End

"Our Town" is the story of the life of a small New Hampshire town. There is little sonnetry, and the settings and time intervals are explicated by the stage manager, who gives a running commentary throughout the play. The first act shows an ordinary day in the Town, Green, and the second act introduces us to the people who get to know George and Emily, who go to college, and their families and friends.

In the second act they are about to get married. There is the usual jockeying for positions, the playback to school, and the Stage Manager asks, "What leads up to this decision to spend the rest of their lives together?"

The first act leads up to this decision to spend the rest of their lives together. "In the final analysis, the play is a beautiful play."

Robert W. Connor, 2-46; Simon 2-44, while the part of Mrs. Gibbs C. Edwardson, 2-46. Dr. Gibbs will write a letter to "Our Town".