Four Of Staff To Retire In July

Instructed at Harvard
From 1892 to 1896 Professor Langey was an instructor at Dartmouth College, and continued as an instructor and professor there from 1904 to 1910, when he joined the staff of the Institute as Professor of Romance Languages. Between 1892 and 1936 Professor Langey was a Lecturer of Romance Languages at Harvard College.

Professor Langey is a member of the Modern Language Association of America, the New England Modern Language Association, the Dante Society of America, Societe des Trecent Genewens, Normandy, Paris, Association of Teachers of Italian, Harvard Musical Association, and the American Academy. In 1907 he was elected president of the M.E.T. branch of the American Association of University Professors. He is the author of "The Italian Department of the Early Illinois Institute," and has edited many other works.

Rural Schools Superintendent
A native of Michigan, Professor Armstrong was accustomed to the rural schools of Ashland and Bay City high school. He taught for three years in rural schools and served for two years in the grade school at Gladwin. For eight years he was county school superintendent, at charge of rural schools, and superintendent of the county high schools.

In 1911 Professor Armstrong entered the Michigan State Normal College, and the following year transferred to the University of Michigan, where he received the degree of bachelor of arts in 1914, and his master's degree in arts in 1916. While carrying on his graduate work in economics and law, he served as an instructor in economics. He joined the staff of the institution in 1915 as an assistant professor, was promoted to Associate Professor of Mechanical Engineering in 1929 and to professor in 1936. He has lectured at Boston, Harvard, and Northwestern Universities. In 1939 he was granted a leave-of-absence for a year for travel around the world.

Mr. Armstrong, a native of Essex, was graduated from the Institute with the degree of bachelor of science in 1916. He joined the staff of the Institute in the Department of Mechanical Engineering in 1919 as a member of mechanical drawing and became an Instructor in Mechanical Engineering in 1924, serving in 1935, when he was appointed an Instructor in Engineering. He has served as an instructor at the Institute for twenty-five years.

He has served as a member of the teaching staff of the Lowell Institute School for forty years and has also been an examining aid to the Civil Service Commission of Massachusetts.
