Phi Kappa Sigma Tie In First Game Of The Season

Theta Chi, 3-3; Game Remains Uncompleted

Each week, the Beaver Key Softball Tournament comes nearer to completion. Two games were played during the last week, as Theta Chi and Phi Kappa Sigma met in a tight game to decide the third member of the round-robin playoff, and Phi Sigma Kappa and Phi Gamma Delta tangled in a ten-inning thriller, that marked the first match of the playoff.

The Phi Sigma Kappa and Phi Gamma Delta still was one of evenly matched teams, in which the Phi Gammers poured on the pressure to win by a 5-4 margin.

The game was a pitcher’s battle throughout, with Dave Trager and Ned Bowman as opposing moundsmen. The Phi Gam key stone combination of Greg Walsh and Jim Craig, again starred on the defense.

The other game played last week was the Theta Chi versus Phi Kappa Sigma tilt, which would have determined the third play-off team, if the result had not been a deadlock.

It was another seventh inning 3-3 tie, but the sinking sun put an end to the playing time, before another inning could be started. Both teams were evenly matched, and the game was close all the way through.
