Freshman Rules To Be Enforced
In Coming Term

Technique, 5:15 Club, Dorms, I.F.C., T.C.A.

Elections Are Approved

That Freshman Rules will continue to be enforced was the decision of the Institute Committee at yesterday's meeting. In an effort to enlist the cooperation of all the upper classes in the enforcement of these rules, it was voted to reestablish the Freshman Rules Committee which will assume the responsibility for enforcing freshman rules. This committee is to work in close cooperation with the Veteran's Committee set up at last week's meeting. How the rules will be enforced or who is to do the actual enforcing was not decided, however. The necessity for wholehearted cooperation from everyone was stressed heavily, because the lack of cooperation from everyone was stressed heavily, because the lack of cooperation from everyone was stressed heavily, because the lack of cooperation from everyone was stressed heavily, because the lack of cooperation from everyone was stressed heavily, because the lack of cooperation from everyone was stressed heavily, because the lack of cooperation from everyone was stressed heavily, because the lack of cooperation from everyone was stressed heavily.

Tech Turns Out To Greet Patton

Yesterday afternoon a large crowd of students turned out to watch General George S. Patton, Jr., pass by on his way from Bedford Field to the Hatch Shell on the Charles Basin. All the members of the V-12 Unit who were not otherwise occupied lined the sidewalk in front of the Graduate House to see the General.

General Patton, commander of the Third Army, famous for his dash across France and Germany, headed the procession in an open car. He was wearing a battle dress jacket, resplendent with ribbons, and his famous varnished helmet bearing his four-star insignia. The General stopped briefly in front of the Charlestown Hospital to greet the crowd assembled there and to permit photographers to take pictures.
