Letters to the Editor

Editor of The Tech
Dear Sir:

We wish to take The Tech to task for what seems to us an incomplete report of a game. The game was played at Harvard on June 8, 6-0. The Tech's report does not mention that the Harvard team was victorious by a score of three to two.

In addition, we would like to state that the Freshman Rules Committee has not enforced this term, and that the Freshman Rules Committee points out that the wearing of the tie has been a tradition at Technology for many years. That it serves to unite the freshman class, and that those who do not observe the custom will be looked upon with the utmost scorn by their classmates and by upperclassmen. If the freshmen win Field Day, however, they will be recognized and will no longer be expected to wear the barber-pole striped tie.

Although freshmen are not compelled to buy ties through the Institute Committee agency, they are helping their club by doing so, since half of the profits from tie sales goes to the Freshman Class Treasury. The other half goes to the Institute Committee.

ready been sent out to the freshmen to find out just what activities the freshmen have been involved in. The mailers and their preferences among Technology activities. From these questionnaires lists of men interested in each activity will be compiled and given to the various activities.

The rally will also give the new freshmen a chance to ask questions they might have about life at Technology. The freshmen who live in dorms will be urged also to come out and work on various committees.

504 Frosh Ties
Sold Last Monday
To Incoming Class

Five hundred and four freshman ties were sold in the registration line last Monday, by the Freshman Council, the Freshman Rules Committee, and the Executive Committee of the Institute Committee.
