Friday, December 14, 1945

Tech Swimmers Lose To Brown 43-32, In First Game Of Season

Meet Remained Undecided Until Final 4’40 Relay

One of the largest crowds that has ever attended a swimming meet at Tech was present at the Alumni pool last Saturday afternoon to watch Coach Smith’s swimming team give Brown men a run for their money, but lose by a final score of 43 to 32. The spectators, however, saw a meet that was well worth their time, for neither team was assured of a victory until the last relay was over.

The first race, a 200-yard medley, was won by Technology and as the medley counted five points, M.I.T. gained an immediate lead over Brown. The 230 free-style race of Tech took a second and Brown’s breaststroke third, and third. The tally at the end of the 200-yard freestyle showed that Tech was leading by 6. Eleven of MIT’s team held the lead until the 50-yard freestyle, while Brown again captured a first and third, thus enabling Tech to maintain its lead. Coach Smith’s team was assured of a victory until the 200-yard medley was won by a free style race.

Squad Meets Army In M.I.T. Season Opener

The M.I.T. olympic team will open its 1945-46 college swimming season this Saturday afternoon when they take on the West Point quintet at the University Club in New York City. The Tech swimmers are hoping to repeat the success of last year, when they took the first point against the Army team, and were able to carry the moral until the final. The meet will be held in the final score of 43 to 32. The spectators, however, saw a meet that was well worth their time, for neither team was assured of a victory until the last relay was over.

The first race, a 200-yard medley, was won by Technology and as the medley counted five points, M.I.T. gained an immediate lead over Brown. The 230 free-style race of Tech took a second and Brown’s breaststroke third, and third. The tally at the end of the 200-yard freestyle showed that Tech was leading by 6. Eleven of MIT’s team held the lead until the 50-yard freestyle, while Brown again captured a first and third, thus enabling Tech to maintain its lead. Coach Smith’s team was assured of a victory until the 200-yard medley was won by a free style race.

Squad Meets Army In M.I.T. Season Opener

The M.I.T. olympic team will open its 1945-46 college swimming season this Saturday afternoon when they take on the West Point quintet at the University Club in New York City. The Tech swimmers are hoping to repeat the success of last year, when they took the first point against the Army team, and were able to carry the moral until the final. The meet will be held in the final score of 43 to 32. The spectators, however, saw a meet that was well worth their time, for neither team was assured of a victory until the last relay was over.

The first race, a 200-yard medley, was won by Technology and as the medley counted five points, M.I.T. gained an immediate lead over Brown. The 230 free-style race of Tech took a second and Brown’s breaststroke third, and third. The tally at the end of the 200-yard freestyle showed that Tech was leading by 6. Eleven of MIT’s team held the lead until the 50-yard freestyle, while Brown again captured a first and third, thus enabling Tech to maintain its lead. Coach Smith’s team was assured of a victory until the 200-yard medley was won by a free style race.

Squad Meets Army In M.I.T. Season Opener

The M.I.T. olympic team will open its 1945-46 college swimming season this Saturday afternoon when they take on the West Point quintet at the University Club in New York City. The Tech swimmers are hoping to repeat the success of last year, when they took the first point against the Army team, and were able to carry the moral until the final. The meet will be held in the final score of 43 to 32. The spectators, however, saw a meet that was well worth their time, for neither team was assured of a victory until the last relay was over.

The first race, a 200-yard medley, was won by Technology and as the medley counted five points, M.I.T. gained an immediate lead over Brown. The 230 free-style race of Tech took a second and Brown’s breaststroke third, and third. The tally at the end of the 200-yard freestyle showed that Tech was leading by 6. Eleven of MIT’s team held the lead until the 50-yard freestyle, while Brown again captured a first and third, thus enabling Tech to maintain its lead. Coach Smith’s team was assured of a victory until the 200-yard medley was won by a free style race.

Squad Meets Army In M.I.T. Season Opener

The M.I.T. olympic team will open its 1945-46 college swimming season this Saturday afternoon when they take on the West Point quintet at the University Club in New York City. The Tech swimmers are hoping to repeat the success of last year, when they took the first point against the Army team, and were able to carry the moral until the final. The meet will be held in the final score of 43 to 32. The spectators, however, saw a meet that was well worth their time, for neither team was assured of a victory until the last relay was over.

The first race, a 200-yard medley, was won by Technology and as the medley counted five points, M.I.T. gained an immediate lead over Brown. The 230 free-style race of Tech took a second and Brown’s breaststroke third, and third. The tally at the end of the 200-yard freestyle showed that Tech was leading by 6. Eleven of MIT’s team held the lead until the 50-yard freestyle, while Brown again captured a first and third, thus enabling Tech to maintain its lead. Coach Smith’s team was assured of a victory until the 200-yard medley was won by a free style race.

Squad Meets Army In M.I.T. Season Opener

The M.I.T. olympic team will open its 1945-46 college swimming season this Saturday afternoon when they take on the West Point quintet at the University Club in New York City. The Tech swimmers are hoping to repeat the success of last year, when they took the first point against the Army team, and were able to carry the moral until the final. The meet will be held in the final score of 43 to 32. The spectators, however, saw a meet that was well worth their time, for neither team was assured of a victory until the last relay was over.

The first race, a 200-yard medley, was won by Technology and as the medley counted five points, M.I.T. gained an immediate lead over Brown. The 230 free-style race of Tech took a second and Brown’s breaststroke third, and third. The tally at the end of the 200-yard freestyle showed that Tech was leading by 6. Eleven of MIT’s team held the lead until the 50-yard freestyle, while Brown again captured a first and third, thus enabling Tech to maintain its lead. Coach Smith’s team was assured of a victory until the 200-yard medley was won by a free style race.

Squad Meets Army In M.I.T. Season Opener

The M.I.T. olympic team will open its 1945-46 college swimming season this Saturday afternoon when they take on the West Point quintet at the University Club in New York City. The Tech swimmers are hoping to repeat the success of last year, when they took the first point against the Army team, and were able to carry the moral until the final. The meet will be held in the final score of 43 to 32. The spectators, however, saw a meet that was well worth their time, for neither team was assured of a victory until the last relay was over.

The first race, a 200-yard medley, was won by Technology and as the medley counted five points, M.I.T. gained an immediate lead over Brown. The 230 free-style race of Tech took a second and Brown’s breaststroke third, and third. The tally at the end of the 200-yard freestyle showed that Tech was leading by 6. Eleven of MIT’s team held the lead until the 50-yard freestyle, while Brown again captured a first and third, thus enabling Tech to maintain its lead. Coach Smith’s team was assured of a victory until the 200-yard medley was won by a free style race.

Squad Meets Army In M.I.T. Season Opener

The M.I.T. olympic team will open its 1945-46 college swimming season this Saturday afternoon when they take on the West Point quintet at the University Club in New York City. The Tech swimmers are hoping to repeat the success of last year, when they took the first point against the Army team, and were able to carry the moral until the final. The meet will be held in the final score of 43 to 32. The spectators, however, saw a meet that was well worth their time, for neither team was assured of a victory until the last relay was over.

The first race, a 200-yard medley, was won by Technology and as the medley counted five points, M.I.T. gained an immediate lead over Brown. The 230 free-style race of Tech took a second and Brown’s breaststroke third, and third. The tally at the end of the 200-yard freestyle showed that Tech was leading by 6. Eleven of MIT’s team held the lead until the 50-yard freestyle, while Brown again captured a first and third, thus enabling Tech to maintain its lead. Coach Smith’s team was assured of a victory until the 200-yard medley was won by a free style race.

Squad Meets Army In M.I.T. Season Opener

The M.I.T. olympic team will open its 1945-46 college swimming season this Saturday afternoon when they take on the West Point quintet at the University Club in New York City. The Tech swimmers are hoping to repeat the success of last year, when they took the first point against the Army team, and were able to carry the moral until the final. The meet will be held in the final score of 43 to 32. The spectators, however, saw a meet that was well worth their time, for neither team was assured of a victory until the last relay was over.

The first race, a 200-yard medley, was won by Technology and as the medley counted five points, M.I.T. gained an immediate lead over Brown. The 230 free-style race of Tech took a second and Brown’s breaststroke third, and third. The tally at the end of the 200-yard freestyle showed that Tech was leading by 6. Eleven of MIT’s team held the lead until the 50-yard freestyle, while Brown again captured a first and third, thus enabling Tech to maintain its lead. Coach Smith’s team was assured of a victory until the 200-yard medley was won by a free style race.

Squad Meets Army In M.I.T. Season Opener

The M.I.T. olympic team will open its 1945-46 college swimming season this Saturday afternoon when they take on the West Point quintet at the University Club in New York City. The Tech swimmers are hoping to repeat the success of last year, when they took the first point against the Army team, and were able to carry the moral until the final. The meet will be held in the final score of 43 to 32. The spectators, however, saw a meet that was well worth their time, for neither team was assured of a victory until the last relay was over.

The first race, a 200-yard medley, was won by Technology and as the medley counted five points, M.I.T. gained an immediate lead over Brown. The 230 free-style race of Tech took a second and Brown’s breaststroke third, and third. The tally at the end of the 200-yard freestyle showed that Tech was leading by 6. Eleven of MIT’s team held the lead until the 50-yard freestyle, while Brown again captured a first and third, thus enabling Tech to maintain its lead. Coach Smith’s team was assured of a victory until the 200-yard medley was won by a free style race.