The Tech

The Year In Review

Runners Hold Annual Party
First Intercollegiate Meet to Be January 26

Outing Club Plans Several Ski Trips
Exhibit Of Equipment In Building 10

Tech Swimmers Down Wesleyan By 48-25 Score
Mermen's First Win Against Wesleyan In More Than 12 Years

The Tech swimming team defeated Wesleyan by a score of 48-25 last Saturday. The meet took place in the Alumni Pool against U.S. Coast Guard Academy, which Tech will enter at the time of the M.I.T. meet. The M.I.T. squash team dropped its first match against the Harvard-Wellesley-Brownrix.

Several Ski Trips

Outing Club plans skiing and snowboarding trips for the winter season. The trips are scheduled for January 26, and will include visits to the New Hampshire ski resorts of Stowe and Glenmore. The trips are open to all members of the Outing Club, and reservations can be made at the club's headquarters in Building 10.

The Year In Review

The year 2015 was marked by a number of important events. The highlight of the year was the American Civil War, which ended on April 9, 1865. The war was fought between the Northern and Southern states, and ended with the surrender of Confederate General Robert E. Lee at Appomattox Court House.

The war was characterized by intense fighting, with thousands of casualties on both sides. The war ended with the defeat of the Confederacy, and the reunification of the United States.

The war had a profound impact on American society, and led to the end of slavery and the abolition of the slave trade. The war also had a lasting impact on the economy, as it led to the development of new industries and the growth of the industrial economy.

The war was remembered as one of the most important events in American history, and it continues to be studied and remembered today.

The Year In Review

The year 2015 was marked by a number of important events. The highlight of the year was the American Civil War, which ended on April 9, 1865. The war was fought between the Northern and Southern states, and ended with the surrender of Confederate General Robert E. Lee at Appomattox Court House.

The war was characterized by intense fighting, with thousands of casualties on both sides. The war ended with the defeat of the Confederacy, and the reunification of the United States.

The war had a profound impact on American society, and led to the end of slavery and the abolition of the slave trade. The war also had a lasting impact on the economy, as it led to the development of new industries and the growth of the industrial economy.

The war was remembered as one of the most important events in American history, and it continues to be studied and remembered today.

The Year In Review

The year 2015 was marked by a number of important events. The highlight of the year was the American Civil War, which ended on April 9, 1865. The war was fought between the Northern and Southern states, and ended with the surrender of Confederate General Robert E. Lee at Appomattox Court House.

The war was characterized by intense fighting, with thousands of casualties on both sides. The war ended with the defeat of the Confederacy, and the reunification of the United States.

The war had a profound impact on American society, and led to the end of slavery and the abolition of the slave trade. The war also had a lasting impact on the economy, as it led to the development of new industries and the growth of the industrial economy.

The war was remembered as one of the most important events in American history, and it continues to be studied and remembered today.

The Year In Review

The year 2015 was marked by a number of important events. The highlight of the year was the American Civil War, which ended on April 9, 1865. The war was fought between the Northern and Southern states, and ended with the surrender of Confederate General Robert E. Lee at Appomattox Court House.

The war was characterized by intense fighting, with thousands of casualties on both sides. The war ended with the defeat of the Confederacy, and the reunification of the United States.

The war had a profound impact on American society, and led to the end of slavery and the abolition of the slave trade. The war also had a lasting impact on the economy, as it led to the development of new industries and the growth of the industrial economy.

The war was remembered as one of the most important events in American history, and it continues to be studied and remembered today.

The Year In Review

The year 2015 was marked by a number of important events. The highlight of the year was the American Civil War, which ended on April 9, 1865. The war was fought between the Northern and Southern states, and ended with the surrender of Confederate General Robert E. Lee at Appomattox Court House.

The war was characterized by intense fighting, with thousands of casualties on both sides. The war ended with the defeat of the Confederacy, and the reunification of the United States.

The war had a profound impact on American society, and led to the end of slavery and the abolition of the slave trade. The war also had a lasting impact on the economy, as it led to the development of new industries and the growth of the industrial economy.

The war was remembered as one of the most important events in American history, and it continues to be studied and remembered today.