I made as the Class of 1946 is graduated, and the remaining outstanding interest in extracurricular work. In view of the heads of the other activities, or men who have shown an editorial policy is concerned. The men on this board are usually bring forward to the student body issues of controversy that of the paper, and not the opinions of any one man. We will so let us know once in a while what you've been doing and We realize our reporters are good, but they are not ace detectives, that we will continue our coverage of all activities and events. you should take a more active part in it.

As with everyone at the beginning of the New Year, The Tech is turning over a new leaf. We have made no resolutions, because those are always broken anyway, but we have always been pledged to serving the student body, and hope to continue this duty to the best of our ability. We agree with the general student body that too many straight news stories continue this duty to the best of our ability. We agree with...

The Tech has entered Course VI in June of his own volition, or as he put it, "It was my own fault!" Phi Delta Theta proved more attractive to him than either the dorms or the other fraternities, so he joined the organization. Unlike many of his fellow 2-46es in the V-12, he was not welcomed into that select fold for a full two terms, and he recalls those days of loud ties and sloppy sports jackets with fond nostalgia.

Background Story

In The Spotlight

The spotlight this week centers upon the General Manager of the Debating Society, Ed Bean, a product of the nation's capital, and now a resident of East Aurora, N.Y., a suburb of Buffalo, where he "shuffled off to" in 1941.

He started his career of extra-curricular activities in the local high school, where at one time or another he was Editor of the yearbook, a member of the debating society, on the Senior Executive Committee, and President of the National Honor Society. Ed dabbled in athletics, but not too athletically, subordinate sports to his other interests.

He entered Tech in June of VI of his own volition, or as he put it, "It was my own fault!" Phi Delta Theta proved more attractive to him than either the dorms or the other fraternities, so he joined the organization. Unlike many of his fellow 2-46es in the V-12, he was not welcomed into that select fold for a full two terms, and he recalls those days of loud ties and sloppy sports jackets with fond nostalgia.

That Ed entered Course VI is not a matter of circumstance; that he remained in it, it seems that at one time could not decide between Chemical and Electrical Engineering, but after suffering through fall, he decided on the latter. Apparently he didn't know what was in store for him. Now that he's a third-year, however, he finds that he is hooked to stay, so at present the Communications option keeps him occupied.

The story of how Ed became General Manager of the Debating Society is one of many appointments and mishaps. He was elected as Sophomore in his...

PROSPECTUS

As with everyone at the beginning of the New Year, The Tech is turning over a new leaf. We have made no resolutions, because those are always broken anyway, but we have always been pledged to serving the student body, and hope to continue this duty to the best of our ability. We agree with the general student body that too many straight news stories can become tiresome, so we will try to enliven this Volume with a few more features for your general reading interest.

This is a student publication and we more than welcome any criticisms from you, our fellow students. If you have any gripes just drop us a line, and we'll see what we can do about printing your epistles. Of course space does not always permit, but if you're a few more features for your general reading interest. As with everyone at the beginning of the New Year, The Tech is turning over a new leaf. We have made no resolutions, because those are always broken anyway, but we have always been pledged to serving the student body, and hope to continue this duty to the best of our ability. We agree with the general student body that too many straight news stories can become tiresome, so we will try to enliven this Volume with a few more features for your general reading interest.

As with everyone at the beginning of the New Year, The Tech is turning over a new leaf. We have made no resolutions, because those are always broken anyway, but we have always been pledged to serving the student body, and hope to continue this duty to the best of our ability. We agree with the general student body that too many straight news stories can become tiresome, so we will try to enliven this Volume with a few more features for your general reading interest.

As with everyone at the beginning of the New Year, The Tech is turning over a new leaf. We have made no resolutions, because those are always broken anyway, but we have always been pledged to serving the student body, and hope to continue this duty to the best of our ability. We agree with the general student body that too many straight news stories can become tiresome, so we will try to enliven this Volume with a few more features for your general reading interest.

As with everyone at the beginning of the New Year, The Tech is turning over a new leaf. We have made no resolutions, because those are always broken anyway, but we have always been pledged to serving the student body, and hope to continue this duty to the best of our ability. We agree with the general student body that too many straight news stories can become tiresome, so we will try to enliven this Volume with a few more features for your general reading interest.